FIND THE LIFE SAVING JACKET OF DOLE FLIERS

REMNANT WAS WASHED UP AT BEACH OF OAHU

APPARATUS SIMILAR TO THAT USED BY NAVY
FLIERS

NOTHING TO SUBSTANTIATE RE-PORT THAT OLD GLORY HAD BEEN SIGHTED

Honolulu, Sept. 10.—(UP)—Evidence of the missing Dole aviators were seen in finding of part of a life saving jacket on the beach of Oahu.
It was an apparatus similar to that used by navy fliers and officials believed the jacket most probably came from one of the Dole planes although it was not definitely known that any of them carried similar equipment.

REPORT OLD GLORY FROM CANADIAN DEPARTMENT

Ottawa, Ont., Sept. 10.—Canadian government officials said today they had checked up all efforts being made to find the monoplane Old Glory and its crew of three and had found nothing to substantiate a report that the missing monoplane had been sighted 400 miles east of Hal-fax.

The report was to the effect that a dispatch from Ottawa had been obtained by the Canadian marine department at Halifax stating that Old Glory was reported sighted at latitude 49.55 north, longitude 40.20
west.

The message was reported to have been received by C. H. Harvey, marine department agent, who immediately broadcast the message to all wireless stations and ships in the vicinity to investigate the report.

St. Johns, Newfoundland, Sept. 10
—There was no confirmation here today of a rumor that the monoplane Old Glory had been sighted at sea.

The government steamship Kyle,
to search for the plane or its occupants, had not reported at an early hour today.

Washington, Sept. 10. — Rumors
of the sighting of the Old Glory emanating from Canada were believed today to have arisen from the fact that the U. S. state department, in asking Canadian aid in a lookout for her, mentioned that the plane had last been heard of 400 miles off Newfoundland.

This statement (apropos of the steamer California's message of sighting her previous to her final S O S) was thought to have been mis-constructed into a statement that she had been more recently sighted. The department here asked the American consul at St. Johns and the American legation at Ottawa to request Canadian officials to radio Canadian ships in the north Atlantic to keep a lookout.

A newspaper in New York, interested in the flight, had requested that the Canadian government aid the search with cruisers.

COMPLETE STILL AND LABELS FOUND ON FARM

St. Paul, Sept. 10.—(UP)—William Ringquest was arrested and a flow of neatly labelled bottled whisky was checked when dry agents raided Ringquest's farm near White Bear late yesterday.

One of the most elaborate plants seized in recent months, equipped with apparatus to turn out "aged" liquor through a heating process, was confiscated. Twenty gallons of the still product and a quantity of counterfeit labels were seized, the agents reported.

LARGE GRAIN SHIPMENT LEAVES ST. PAUL IN NEW RIVER BARGES

St. Paul, Sept. 10.—(UP)—The largest grain shipment ever to go down the Mississippi river from St. Paul is scheduled to leave late today.

Barges today loaded 45,000 bushels of grain, and the tow will be taken to St. Louis by the S. S. Weber. One of the six barges will carry merchandise from the Twin Cities, designated for points below St. Louis.

U. S. Navy May Assume Water Flying Promotion

LEVINE PLANE MAY HOP OFF FOR INDIA SOON

London, Sept. 10.—(UP)—"We are starting to India, probably Karachi, some time next week," Capt. Walter Hinchliffe, British pilot engaged by Charles A. Levine, told the United Press today.

The statement was in reply to a question whether the intended flight in the Bellanca monoplane Columbia to New York had been abandoned.

Levine had said several times that if bad weather caused abandonment of the trans-Atlantic flight, he and Hinchliffe would attempt to establish a new non-stop distance record by trying to fly to Karachi, India.

MISS AMERICA OF 1927 IS 16 YEAR OLD GIRL

MISS LOIS ELEANOR DELANDER OF JOLIET, ILL., WEARS HAIR UNBOBBED

CROWNED NEW QUEEN OF BEAUTY AT ATLANTIC CITY PAGENAT

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 10.—
(UP)—Miss America of 1927, a 16-
year old girl with unbobbed brown hair has no intention of going into the movies or on the stage.

"I want to become a great artist," Miss Lois Eleanor Delander, of Joliet, Ill., said after being crowned
the new Queen of Beauty last night at the Atlantic City beauty pageant.
"I have received many offers to go on the stage and into the movies," she said, "but I am not going to accept any of them."

"I want to draw; I want to make a home for myself; I want to be a somebody in this world."

Miss Delander, who is five feet four and a half, has blue eyes and very fair complexion, likes dancing and is fond of swimming. But her one ambition is to draw.

The other finalists in the contest were more like the winners of previous years.

Miss Mozelle Ransome, who was Miss Dallas, wants to go on the stage. She received only five votes for first honors.

Anne Howe, who was Miss Hammond, was another finalist. She was very modest and thought she was lucky to have remained in the contest as long as she had.

"There were too many pretty girls to compete with," she said.

Kathleen Coyne, who was Miss Philadelphia, wants to go into the movies or on the stage.

Claire Howard, who was Miss Tulsa, said she is going to go on the stage

"We know we can make a living that way, so why not take advantage of it?" she said.

Miss Illinois won other honors before being awarded the highest one.
She was given first prize in the rolling chair parade for the middle division and was runner-up in the contest for the most beautiful girl in an evening gown.

The crowning ceremonies were slightly different from other years because the queen of 1926, Miss Smallwood, was not there to abdicate her throne. She had withdrawn from the contest because those in charge would not pay her for making public appearances.

More than 18,000 persons witnessed the ceremonies and cheered long and loudly for the queen.

POISON USED AS WEED KILLER KILLED LIVESTOCK

Preston, Minn., Sept. 10.—(UP)— Eating vegetation along a railroad right of way near here has resulted in the death of 40 head of cattle from poison placed by a weed killer.

BABY FALLS 18 FEET, UNINJURED

St. Paul, Sept. 10.—(UP)—Eighteen month old Peter Mayer came up unhurt and smiling after a fall of 18 feet from the porch of his home here late yesterday. He had crawled through a hole in the porch screen.

HOUSE, PENNSYLVANIA AVE.,

TRAIN WILL STOP AT BROOK-
INGS, S. D., FOR HIS DEDICA-TION SPEECH

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Aboard Presidential Special Train
near Brookings, S. D., Sept. 10. — After three months in the Black Hills, President Coolidge was traveling homeward across the corn and wheat prairies today, due to arrive in the White House on Pennsylvania Avenue Sunday night.

His train will stop for an hour and a half at Brookings so that he may dedicate to the South Dakota Agricultural College its Lincoln Library and lay the cornerstone of its Coolidge Sylvan Theatre.

There he will deliver his farewell speech to the west which has played vacation host to him and a gala occasion was planned for it. Farmers were expected from all the eastern part of the state and all state officials were invited.

When the ceremonies have been concluded Mr. Coolidge will resume his journey to Washington where he has said he contemplated a series of conferences with his cabinet and leaders of congress regarding important affairs such as the proposed special session of the senate, the naval building program, appointment of an ambassador to Mexico and a governor-general of the Philippines and tax reduction.

All these things have been held in abeyance during the vacation.

The presidential train pulled out of the summer capital, Rapid City, at 2:55 P. M. mountain time last night.
A crowd of 3,000 was at the station to see the president off and they cheered as he waved to them from the rear platform of his private car.

The car had been decked with prairie wild flowers. Both the president and the first lady were loaded with presents and the crowd called to
"Cal" and "Grace" as "homefolks" to come back again next year.

Just before the train pulled out,
the local paper came out with first
west should get together to elect Mr. Coolidge again next year with Senator Peter Norbeck, republican,
South Dakota, as vice president.

Brookings, S. D., Sept. 10.—Pres.
Coolidge here today pleaded for more culture in American life.

Speaking at the dedication of the South Dakota state college's Lincoln Memorial library here, he insisted that U. S. colleges must "teach not only science but character." Unless they provide youth with a "broader understanding of the spiritual meaning of science, of literature and of the arts," he said, they will have failed to fulfill their proper functions and "our people will be lacking in true culture."

Incidentally, he paid tribute to Abraham Lincoln for fostering land grant colleges, and to American agriculture for vast aid in winning the world war. Without American farm products, he said, "it is impossible to see how the war could have been won," though he added that many elements contributed to the victory.

"We have been driven by necessity," he said, "to giving a great deal of attention to subduing the forces of nature."

"It has been necessary to create anew on this continent all of the instruments of civilization. We have had our cities to build, our highways, our railways and our canals to lay out, our mines and manufacturing plants to build."

LEGION PARADE ORDERED OFF AT CHERBOURG, FRANCE

Cherbourg, Sept. 10.—(UP)— Chairman and the entire municipal reception committee planning the parade and reception for American Legionnaires upon their arrival here Friday resigned today.

The action was the result of the police order refusing to sanction the Legion parade here in view of the recent communist manifestations here and the fear of more trouble if the parade is held.

TAKE PART IN NEW YORK-
SPOKANE DERBY

FLIGHT CALLED OFF BECAUSE
ARD STUNT FLIGHTS

Windsor, Ont., Sept. 10.—(UP)— Because of public apprehension and disfavor toward stunt flights, the committee backing the Windsor, Ont. to Windsor, Eng., venture has definitely called off the flight.

The committee wired the fliers,
"Duke" Schiller and Phil S. Wood
to return and take part in the New York-Spokane air derby September 21.

"Take complete control of plane as trans-Atlantic flight has terminated," the committee's telegram said. "No criticism of you by committee. Bring plane back as soon as possible to discuss entry in the New York-Spokane derby. Believe search for 'Old Glory' not feasible,
but use your judgment."

St. Johns, Newfoundland, Sept. 10
—Pilots Phil Wood and C. A. Schiller of the monoplane Royal Windsor today definitely abandoned their proposed trans-Atlantic flight to London, Eng.

Wood received definite instructions to abandon the project and to return to Canada.

As for the search for Old Glory and the Sir John Carling, which had weather prevented them from making yesterday, the fliers said that matter also was up to the backers of the Royal Windsor.

The pilots decided to remain here
to await any decision which may be made regarding their proposed search for the Old Glory and other missing Atlantic fliers.

A cable from the British air ministry in London today advised that the search plans be abandoned.

Search would be futile in view of the prevailing weather conditions over the Atlantic since the planes disappeared, the cable said.

It appeared that there would be no aerial search for the planes. The S. S. Kyle which began a search yesterday had not been heard from at mid day.

HOLD MAN ON CHARGE OF PASSING
'PREHISTORIC' CHECKS

Casper, Wyo., Sept. 10.—(UP)— Police today held C. McDunn, 25, in connection with the writing of several checks dated 272 B. C.
Several local clothing dealers
cashed the "prehistoric" paper.

In McDunn's possession when he was arrested were several blank checks on various banks, officers said. Those cashed here were on a Billings, Mont., bank.

The sheriff's office announced that McDunn is believed to be the man wanted in Cheyenne, Billings,
and other Montana towns where more checks dated 272 B. C. were cashed.

EDSEL FORD TO START THE CONTESTANTS

"HISPANIA"

TO BE FOLLOWED AT INTERVALS
BALLOONS

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 10.—(UP)—

Balloon pilots of eight nations stood ready at the Ford airport today to take the air for the 16th annual contest for the Gordon Bennett trophy.

As early as three o'clock this morning the pilots and their crews were on the field commencing inflation of the gigantic "bags." Four hours later, under the pressure of 8,000 cubic feet of city coal gas which will carry it through the skies, each balloon began to swell like a huge mushroom.

Edsel Ford will start the contestants on their way at 4 P. M. First to rise will be the Spanish entry,
"Hispania." It will be followed at intervals of five minutes by the other balloons.

There are fifteen entries, three from the United States and three from Germany, two each from Italy, France and Belgium, and one each from Spain, England and Switzerland.

The prevailing winds were from
the southwest, indicating that the balloons would be driven in a northeasterly direction over Canada. A fifth somewhere in upper Montreal or Nova Scotia was anticipated.

The race is a crucial one for the United States. The American team is not only fighting to retain the championship won by Captain W. T.
Van Orman last year, but victory
today would give this country decisive grip on the world honors, now shared with Belgium. Both countries have won the cup five times in 15 years of competition.

The "Belgia," from which Van Orman's "Good Year VI" has most
to fear, has won the cup four times in the last six contests.

The distance record of 1382 miles
was established in 1912 by Maurice Bianame, captain of the French team starting today. The duration record of 87 hours is held by Hugo Kaulen, piloting the German "Bar-men" today.

One hundred thousand persons witnessed the start of the race at Antwerp last year and a crowd of similar proportions was anticipated today. Army and navy aeronautical officials, as well as leaders of business and commerce from all parts of the country were on hand for the start.

EARNINGS OF GREAT NORTHERN HIGHER THIS YEAR

St. Paul, Sept. 10.—(UP)—Earnings of the Great Northern railroad will be higher this year than in 1926, Louis W. Hill, chairman of the railroad declared upon his return late Friday from a trip over the company lines from California. He said he never saw the northwest crop situation in better condition.

SOUSA NOW CHIEF OF BLACKFEET TRIBE

St. Paul, Sept. 10.—(UP)—Lieut.
Commander John Philip Sousa now is a chief of the Blackfeet Indian tribe.

This honor was bestowed upon the famous band leader by 32 Indians, including several squaws and paposes from Glacier national park, who were guests at the Minnesota state fair yesterday.

After hearing the music by Sousa's band, the leader was called into the circle of Indians, and the title of chief given him.

San Francisco, Calif., Sept. 10.— Jack Bennett, alias Jacob Berman, was enroute from San Francisco
to Los Angeles today to face charges of misappropriating more than $60,000,000 of the funds of the defunct Julian Petroleum Co.

After being hunted for months throughout the world, Bennett called detectives from a San Francisco hotel late yesterday and told them he was ready to give himself up.

In custody of officers he was taken aboard a night train for Los Angeles, where he will be arraigned today before District Attorney Keyes.

OF GOVERNOR ED. JACK-

FOLLOWING HIS INDICTMENT, WITH THREE OTHERS,
FOR BRIBERY

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 10.—(U P)—Plea of not guilty and a defense based on the assertion he was "framed" by his political enemies was expected of Governor Ed. Jackson of Indiana today, following his indictment, with three others, for bribery.

After weeks of deliberation into alleged political corruption, the Marion county grand jury returned true bills against Jackson, Mayor John L. Duvall of Indianapolis,
George V. Coffin, republican leader,
and Robert I. Marsh, Ku Klux Klan attorney during the regime of D. C.
Stephenson.

They were accused of conspiring
to bribe Governor Warren T. McCray
to appoint James E. McDonald Marion county prosecutor when Mc-Cray's son-in-law, William P. Evans, resigned that office rather than prosecute McCray for fraud.

The charge was first made by the Indianapolis Times, a Scripps-Howard newspaper. The offer to Mc-Cray, it was alleged, was a cash payment of $10,000 and immunity from prosecution under state laws. Mc-Cray was said to have declined the proposition.

Jackson, in the only public statement he had made concerning the charges, admitted he wanted McDonald appointed prosecutor but denied any attempt at bribery.

This, it was believed, will be the defense of the others indicted also.
All were alleged to be connected at one time with the political interests of Stephenson, who is now serving a life sentence in prison for murder.

Stephenson asserted he had absolute control of the faction which is accused of attempting to bribe McCray.
The grand jury was still in session and it was possible other indictments would be forthcoming as other evidence which originated with Stephenson has been presented to that body. Among the charges was that Stephenson gave Jackson $2,500 for campaign expenses which the latter did not list in making required reports. Jackson asserted the money was given him "for a fine saddle horse and equipment."

All of those indicted were released on bond soon after the jury action was announced. Duvall is under indictment for violating the corrupt practices act in another connection and was to go on trial Monday on that charge.

The grand jury which finally voted the indictments was the third to consider the charges. The first grand jury called failed to indict.
The second was dismissed when one of the jurors told the court he had been approached with an offer of a bribe.

The present grand jury moved swiftly toward the climax yesterday. Stephenson was brought to Indianapolis from Michigan City penitentiary to testify and talked for several hours. At this investigation, the "little black boxes" or the former Klan chief made their first appearance. They contained incriminating documents.

Stephenson was sent to prison for the murder of Madge Oberholzer who asserted on her death bed that dependency over her relations with

COMMERCIAL AND MILITARY PHASES OF ART

NAVY IS PREPARED FOR THE
EXPERTS

ING BOATS

By HERBERT LITTLE

Washington, Sept. 10.—The U. S. navy after doing its utmost to prevent further ocean flights in land planes, must assume the promotion of water-flying, commercial and military, flying men said today.

Navy aviation experts informed the United Press the navy is prepared for the job, and already has under operating or construction three types of long distance flying boats. It is turning to air-cooled motors, providing more power with less weight, in the expectation of developing a machine to carry enough gasoline, in addition to useful loads over the Lindbergh and Maitland-Hegenberger routes—and further.

Rear Admiral W. A. Moffett, naval aviation chief, informed the United Press that the navy is replacing water cooled motors with air-cooled engines on its three PN-10 flying boats, and that 20 more of the type will be ordered if the experiment succeeds.

In addition, a PN-11, with many refinements over the present PN flying boats, including two or three newly designed air-cooled motors of more than 500 horsepower each, is being built now for test flights next year.

A flying boat monoplane, the first large American flying boat to deviate from the biplane model, which also will have air-cooled motors of great power, is being planned by the navy.

All-metal construction will be tried on some of the new ships.

When these planes are completed,
some of the qualifying tests probably will carry them into the realms of long-distance flying in real safety in contrast to the precarious flights and frequent tragedies of 1927, Mc-fett said.

"The navy has flown the Atlantic;
it flew nearly to Hawaii; it flew to Panama, and it makes regular flights over the ocean from Panama to San Diego; and all without losing a life," Moffett said.

Moffett said the navy is having bombers built in San Diego which could fly to Hawaii in comparative safety.

The navy's stand against civilian stunt-flying by land planes over water was made in revoking leaves
of absence granted Lieut. L. W. Curtin and Ensign S. V. Edwards to go with Captain Rene Fonck to Paris
in his bi-motored Sikorsky land plane; and in refusing to send navy ships to Oriental waters to safeguard the Schlee-Brock around the world plane during its hops from Tokio to the United States.

Acting Secretary of Navy T. Douglas Robinson advised Fonck of a new navy policy against such leaves for this purpose in the future.

The request for ships along the Schlee-Brock Pacific jump was made by Harold E. Hartney, New York, president of the General Airways Corporation. Robinson replied the navy had no ships available, adding that if it had, he would oppose their use in a land plane flight project.

Stephenson prompted her to take
poison which killed her.

When the "Dragon" was locked in the penitentiary, he was virtually cut off from outside communication.
A letter was smuggled from Stephenson to Thomas L. Adams, editor of the Vincennes Commercial, telling of what he could reveal if given an opportunity.

The grand jury investigation followed, the second and third instituted by Indiana editors, led by Adams and Boyd Curley of the Times, when the first jury failed to indict.

FROM CANADIAN DEPARTMENT

Ottawa, Ont., Sept. 10.—Canadian government officials said today they
made to find the monoplane Old Glory and its crew of three and had
found nothing to substantiate a report that the missing monoplane had been sighted 400 miles east of Halifax.

The report was to the effect that
a dispatch from Ottawa had been
obtained by the Canadian marine department at Halifax stating that Old Glory was reported sighted at latitude 49.55 north, longitude 40.20
west.

The message was reported to have been received by C. H. Harvey, marine department agent, who immediately broadcast the message to all
vicinity to investigate the report.

St. Johns, Newfoundland, Sept. 10.
—There was no confirmation here
today of a rumor that the mono-
plane Old Glory had been sighted at sea.

to search for the plane or its occu-

of the sighting of the Old Glory
emanating from Canada were believed today to have arisen from the fact that the U. S. state department, in asking Canadian aid in a lookout
last been heard of 400 miles off Newfoundland.

steamer California's message of
sighting her previous to her final S O S) was thought to have been misconstrued into a statement that she
department here asked the American
consul at St. Johns and the American legation at Ottawa to request Canadian officials to radio Canadian ships in the North Atlantic to keep
a lookout.

A newspaper in New York, interested in the flight, had requested
that the Canadian government aid

Barges today loaded 45,000 bushels

told the United Press today.

The statement was in reply to a question whether the intended

Levine had said several times

(UP)—Miss America of 1927, a 16-
year old girl with unbobbed brown hair has no intention of going into
the movies or on the stage.

Miss Lois Eleanor Delander, of Joliet, Ill., said after being crowned
the new Queen of Beauty last night
at the Atlantic City beauty pageant.

"I have received many offers to
go on the stage and into the movies," she said, "but I am not going to

Anne Howe, who was Miss Hammond, was another finalist. She was very modest and thought she was lucky to have remained in the contest as long as she had.

"There were too many pretty girls
to compete with," she said.

Kathleen Coye, who was Miss Philadelphia, wants to go into the
movies or on the stage.

Claire Howard, who was Miss Tulsa,

"We know we can make a living
that way, so why not take advantage
of it?" she said.

Miss Illinois won other honors before being awarded the highest one.
She was given first prize in the rolling chair parade for the middle division and was runner-up in the contest for the most beautiful girl in an evening gown.

The crowning ceremonies were
slightly different from other years
because the queen of 1926, Miss Smallwood, was not there to abdicate
her throne. She had withdrawn
from the contest because those in charge would not pay her for making public appearances.

More than 18,000 persons witnessed the ceremonies and cheered

INGS, S. D., FOR HIS DEDICA-TION SPEECH

Aboard Presidential Special Train
near Brookings, S. D., Sept. 10. —
Hills, President Coolidge was travelling homeward across the corn and wheat prairies today, due to arrive
Avenue Sunday night.

His train will stop for an hour
and a half at Brookings so that he may dedicate to the South Dakota Agricultural College its Lincoln Library and lay the cornerstone of its Coolidge Sylvan Theatre.

There he will deliver his farewell
speech to the west which has played
vacation host to him and a gala occasion was planned for it. Farmers
were expected from all the eastern part of the state and all state officials were invited.

When the ceremonies have been
his journey to Washington where he
conferences with his cabinet and
leaders of congress regarding important affairs such as the proposed special session of the senate, the
naval building program, appoint-
and a governor-general of the Philippines and tax reduction.

in abeyance during the vacation.

The presidential train pulled out
of the summer capital, Rapid City, at 3:55 P. M. mountain time last night.
A crowd of 3,000 was at the station
to see the president off and they cheered as he waved to them from
the rear platform of his private car.
The car had been decked with prairie
wild flowers. Both the president
presents and the crowd called to
"Cal" and "Grace" as "homefolks"
to come back again next year.

Just before the train pulled out,
west should get together to elect Mr. Coolidge again next year with Senator Peter Norbeck, republican,
South Dakota, as vice president.

Brookings, S. D., Sept. 10.—Pres.
Coolidge here today pleaded for
more culture in American life.

Memorial library here, he insisted
only science but character." Unless they provide youth with a "broader
ing of science, of literature and of
failed to fulfill their proper function and "our people will be lacking in true culture."

Incidentally, he paid tribute to Abraham Lincoln for fostering land grant colleges, and to American agriculture for vast aid in winning the world war. Without American
farm products, he said, "it is impossible to see how the war could have
many elements contributed to the victory.

"We have been driven by necessity," he said, "to giving a great
forces of nature."

"It has been necessary to create
anew on this continent all of the
instruments of civilization. We have had our cities to build, our highways,
our railways and our canals to lay

LEGION PARADE ORDERED OFF AT CHERBOURG, FRANCE

Cherbourg, Sept. 10.—(UP)— Chairman and the entire municipal
parade and reception for American
here Friday resigned today.

The action was the result of
the police order refusing to sanction the Legion parade here in view of the recent communist
manifestations here and the fear

TAKE PART IN NEW YORK-

Windsor, Ont., Sept. 10.—(UP)— Because of public apprehension and
disfavor toward stunt flights, the
committee backing the Windsor, Ont.
to Windsor, Eng., venture has definitely called off the flight.

The committee wired the fliers,
"Duke" Schiller and Phil S. Wood
21.

"Take complete control of plane as trans-Atlantic flight has terminated," the committee's telegram said. "No criticism of you by committee. Bring plane back as soon
New York-Spokane derby. Believe
search for 'Old Glory' not feasible,

St. Johns, Newfoundland, Sept. 10.
—Pilots Phil Wood and C. A. Schiller of the monoplane Royal Windsor
today definitely abandoned their proposed trans-Atlantic flight to London, Eng.

Wood received definite instructions to abandon the project and to return to Canada.

As for the search for Old Glory
and the Sir John Carling, which had
weather prevented them from making yesterday, the fliers said that matter also was up to the backers of
the Royal Windsor.

The pilots decided to remain here
to await any decision which may be made regarding their proposed
search for the Old Glory and other missing Atlantic fliers.

A cable from the British air ministry in London today advised that
the search plans be abandoned.
Search would be futile in view of
the prevailing weather conditions
over the Atlantic since the planes
disappeared, the cable said.

It appeared that there would be no aerial search for the planes. The S. S. Kyle which began a search yesterday had not been heard from at mid day.

HOLD MAN ON CHARGE OF PASSING 'PREHISTORIC' CHECKS

Casper, Wyo., Sept. 10.—(UP)—
Police today held C. McDunn, 35,
in connection with the writing of several checks dated 272 B. C.
Several local clothing dealers
cashed the "prehistoric" paper.

In McDunn's possession when
blank checks on various banks, officers said. Those cashed here were on a Billings, Mont., bank.

The sheriff's office announced
that McDunn is believed to be the
man wanted in Cheyenne, Billings,
and other Montana towns where more checks dated 272 B. C. were
cashed.

EDSEL FORD TO START THE CONTESTANTS

"HISPANIA"

BALLOONS

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 10.—(UP)— Balloon pilots of eight nations stood
ready at the Ford airport today to take the air for the 16th annual contest for the Gordon Bennett trophy.

morning the pilots and their crews
were on the field commencing infla-
hours later, under the pressure of $8,000 cubic feet of city coal gas
which will carry it through the skies, each balloon began to swell
like a huge mushroom.

Edsel Ford will start the contestants on their way at 4 P. M. First
to rise will be the Spanish entry,
"Hispania." It will be followed at intervals of five minutes by the other balloons.

There are fifteen entries, three
from the United States and three
from Germany, two each from Italy,
from Spain, England and Switzerland.

the southwest, indicating that the
balloons would be driven in a northeasterly direction over Canada. A flurry somewhere in upper Montreal or Nova Scotia was anticipated.

The race is a crucial one for the United States. The American team
is not only fighting to retain the championship won by Captain W. T.
Van Orman last year, but victory
today would give this country decisive grip on the world honors, now
shared with Belgium. Both countries have won the cup five times

Orman's "Good Year VI" has most
in the last six contests.

was established in 1912 by Maurice Bianame, captain of the French
team starting today. The duration
record of 87 hours is held by Hugo Kaulen, piloting the German "Bar-
men" today.

One hundred thousand persons
witnessed the start of the race at Antwerp last year and a crowd of
similar proportions was anticipated
today. Army and navy aeronautical officials, as well as leaders of business and commerce from all parts
start.

EARNINGS OF GREAT NORTHERN HIGHER THIS YEAR

St. Paul, Sept. 10.—(UP)—Earnings
of the Great Northern railroad will
be higher this year than in 1926, Louis

declared upon his return late Friday
from a trip over the company lines

SOUSA NOW CHIEF OF BLACKFEET TRIBE

St. Paul, Sept. 10.—(UP)—Lieut.
Commander John Philip Sousa now is
a chief of the Blackfeet Indian tribe.
This honor was bestowed upon the famous band leader by 32 Indians, including several squaws and paposes
from Glacier national park, who were guests at the Minnesota state fair
yesterday.

After hearing the music by Sousa's
band, the leader was called into the circle of Indians, and the title of chief
given him.

Jack Bennett, alias Jacob Berman,
was enroute from San Francisco
to Los Angeles today to face
the defunct Julian Petroleum Co.
After being hunted for months
throughout the world, Bennett
called detectives from a San Francisco hotel late yesterday and told them he was ready to give himself up.

taken aboard a night train for Los
raigned today before District Attorney Keyes.

OF GOVERNOR ED. JACK-

FOLLOWING HIS INDICTMENT,

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 10.—(U P)—Plea of not guilty and a defense
based on the assertion he was "framed" by his political enemies was expected of Governor Ed. Jackson of Indiana today, following his indictment, with three others, for bribery.

alleged political corruption, the Marion county grand jury returned
true bills against Jackson, Mayor
John L. Duvall of Indianapolis,
George V. Coffin, republican leader,
and Robert I. Marsh, Ku Klux Klan
attorney during the regime of D. C.
Stephenson.

They were accused of conspiring
to appoint James E. McDonald, Marion county prosecutor when Mc-Cray's son-in-law, William P. Evans, resigned that office rather than prosecute McCray for fraud.

Indianapolis Times, a Scripps-Howard newspaper. The offer to Mc-Cray, it was alleged, was a cash payment of $10,000 and immunity from prosecution under state laws. Mc-Cray was said to have declined the proposition.

Jackson, in the only public statement he had made concerning the
charges, admitted he wanted McDonald appointed prosecutor but denied
any attempt at bribery.

This, it was believed, will be the defense of the others indicted also.
All were alleged to be connected at
one time with the political interests
of Stephenson, who is now serving a life sentence in prison for murder.

Stephenson asserted he had absolute
control of the faction which is accused of attempting to bribe McCray.
It was possible other indictments would be forthcoming as other evidence which originated with Stephenson has been presented to that body. Among the charges was that Stephenson gave Jackson $2,500 for
campaign expenses which the latter
did not list in making required reports. Jackson asserted the money was given him "for a fine saddle
horse and equipment."

All of those indicted were released
on bond soon after the jury action
was announced. Duvall is under indictment for violating the corrupt
practices act in another connection
and was to go on trial Monday on
that charge.

The grand jury which finally voted the indictments was the third to consider the charges. The first grand jury called failed to indict.
The second was dismissed when one of the jurors told the court he had been approached with an offer of a bribe.

The present grand jury moved
swiftly toward the climax yesterday. Stephenson was brought to Indianapolis from Michigan City
penitentiary to testify and talked for several hours. At this investigation, the "little black boxes" of the former Klan chief made their first appearance. They contained incriminating documents.

Stephenson was sent to prison for
the murder of Madge Oberholzer who
asserted on her death bed that dependency over her relations with

EXPERTS

ING BOATS

By HERBERT LITTLE

Washington, Sept. 10.—The U. S. navy after doing its utmost to prevent further ocean flights in land
planes, must assume the promotion
of water-flying, commercial and military, flying men said today.

Navy aviation experts informed
the United Press the navy is prepared for the job, and already has
under operating or construction
three types of long distance flying
boats. It is turning to air-cooled engines, providing more power with less weight, in the expectation of developing a machine to carry enough gasoline, in addition to useful loads
over the Lindbergh and Maitland-Hegenberger routes—and further.

Rear Admiral W. A. Moffett, naval aviation chief, informed the United Press that the navy is replacing water cooled motors with air-cooled
engines on its three PN-10 flying
boats, and that 20 more of the type
will be ordered if the experiment succeeds.

In addition, a PN-11, with many refinements over the present PN flying boats, including two or three
newly designed air-cooled motors of
more than 500 horsepower each, is being built now for test flight, next year.

A flying boat monoplane, the first large American flying boat to deviate from the biplane model, which also will have air-cooled motors of
great power, is being planned by the navy.

All-metal construction will be tried on some of the new ships.

When these planes are completed,
some of the qualifying tests probably will carry them into the realm of long-distance flying in real safety in contrast to the precarious flights
and frequent tragedies of 1927, Mc-
fett said.

"The navy has flown the Atlantic;
it flew nearly to Hawaii; it flew to Panama, and it makes regular flights
over the ocean from Panama to San Diego; and all without losing a life," Moffett said.

Moffett said the navy is having bombers built in San Diego which could fly to Hawaii in comparative safety.

The navy's stand against civilian
stunt-flying by land planes over
water was made in revoking leaves
of absence granted Lieut. L. W. Curtin and Ensign S. V. Edwards to go
with Captain Rene Fonck to Paris
in his bi-motored Sikorsky land
plane; and in refusing to send navy
ships to Oriental waters to safeguard
the Schlee-Brock around the world
plane during its hops from Tokio to
the United States.

Acting Secretary of Navy T. Douglas Robinson advised Fonck of a new navy policy against such leaves
for this purpose in the future.

The request for ships along the
by Harold E. Hartney, New York,
president of the General Airways Corporation. Robinson replied the navy had no ships available, adding
that if it had, he would oppose their
use in a land plane flight project.

Stephenson prompted her to take
poison which killed her.

When the "Dragon" was locked in
the penitentiary, he was virtually
cut off from outside communication.
A letter was smuggled from Stephenson to Thomas L. Adams, editor of the Vincennes Commercial, telling of what he could reveal if given an opportunity.

The grand jury investigation followed, the second and third insisted by Indiana editors, led by Adams and Boyd Curley of the Times, when the first jury failed to indict.

ACTIVITIES FOR SCOUTS PLANNED

All Brainerd Troops Will Meet Within Few Days to Plan Interesting Year

L. O. O. M. HAS TROOP

Troops 1, 2, 3 and 5 to Meet at Respective Rooms Monday
Evening

All Brainerd Troops will be meeting within the next few days in preparation for a mighty interesting Scout year. Several Troops will have new leaders and one Troop has a sponsoring institution.

All Scouts of Troop One will be pleased to hear that the Loyal Order of Moose have taken interest in them to the extent of taking the active sponsorship of the Troop. Troop One will hereafter meet in the new lodge rooms of the Moose and in all probability have a Troop room of their own in which to display trophies they win, collections they make and troop equipment. Togo Erlson, who has been leader of the troop this past year, will resume his duties as scoutmaster this fall. The troop will meet Monday night at 7:30 o'clock in he new lodge rooms of the Moose.

Troop Two, sponsored by the Knights of Pythias Lodge, under the leadership of Gilbert Luken and J.
H. Wallin, chairman of the troop committee, with assistant Scoutmaster Leland Avery, will hold their first meeting Monday at 7:30 o'clock in their troop room in the basement of the court house. Troop Two promises to be one of the most active troops this fall and winter.

Troop Three, sponsored by a group of citizens of Northeast Brainerd, will have a new leader this fall. It is regretted that Jim Templeton can not continue as Scoutmaster but it is felt that Milton Anders, who has come to Brainerd as an apprentice at the N. P. shops, will be well liked by the boys and prove to be a very effective Scoutmaster. Mr. Anders has asked to have the boys meet with him in their regular troop room Monday night at 7:30 o'clock to get acquainted. Every boy who is looking for an interesting time this winter should be at this meeting provided he is twelve years old.

Troop Four, under the very able leadership of L. N. Hanson, will resume its definite fall program Wednesday night in their troop room in Southeast Brainerd. George Falconer, chairman of the troop committee, announces that a very fine young man who has come to Brainerd this fall to teach in the high school, will be down to look the gang over with a view to relieving
M. Hanson of the active leadership of the troop. Mr. Hanson will continue as a troop committeeman. Mr.
Hiden who is quite an athlete himself will be very much liked by all the boys.

Troop Five will hold their first fall meeting in the basement of the Congregational church at 7:30 o'- clock Monday night. C. C. Carlton, assistant forest ranger, will be the new Scoutmaster, succeeding Ed J.
Egan. Mr. Carlton attended the Kasas Park Scout Leaders' Training Course during August where he had training under many of the national Scout men. Every old member of the troop and all boys on the north side twelve years of age should be there.

Troop Seven will start meeting the first part of the week under the leadership of Henry Nolan. Tommy Larkin, who was active with the troop last spring, has had to give up active leadership until later in the season because he is living out in the country. Mr. Nolan should prove a very interesting leader, however, and will announce later when the first meeting of the troop will be held.

The Fall Round-up will be held September 16 and 17 at Lum Park. A patrol is expected from every troop.
The events will be the same as last spring.

Six scouts will be initiated to the Order of the Arrow, Honorary Camp Fraternity, at Camp Clearwater tonight. Candidates are Malcolm Elison and Dale Sanders of Brainerd, Clifton Blom, Clinton Wilcox and Sam Dobervich of Ironton, and Norman Heft of Aitkin.

Elephant Ignores Fences
An elephant which escaped from a circus at Newtown, Australia, recently, evidently considered fences beneath his notice, for he walked through them without stopping. Pedestrians and vehicles were narrowly missed and gardens destroyed before he was captured in a nearby town.

Not Lady on Your Left
The apparent odor of garlic so frequently sensed in the subways and other electric trains is most apt to arise from the car's electric brakes, rather than from the dietary vagaries of the passengers, says Science and Invention. Sparking, which occurs in most such brakes, creates ozone with a garlic smell.

Vaudeville Bill Includes Al and Aleta Cronin and Gladys and
Her Gladiolas

Al and Aleta Cronin who head the vaudeville bill at the Park tonight present smart songs and dances with special scenery. This man and woman do a very clever routine of dances and songs.

Harry Fidler, without a fiddle, is a Chinese impersonator, while his singing, jokes and personality prove popular.

The big act on tonight's program is Gladys and her Gladiolas, a whirly girlly melange of songs, dances and music. Special scenery comes with this act, which includes six girls, a five girl jazz band and one girl dancer. Eau Claire, Wis., states that this is the best band for its size that they have had so far this season. They have a beautiful set and nice clean costumes.

The next act is Art Linick presented "Schlagenhauer." This well known radio character comedian with a versatile personality, puts on a great act.

The last act, Arthur and Darling is a very unusual and novel act presented the dancing frog and his consort. The man impersonates a frog and is a very clever contortionist, while the woman impersonates a butterfly.

The feature picture is Rex Beach's
"The Goose Woman" featuring Jack Pickford, Louise Dresser and Constance Bennett. The orchestra is in charge of Arthur Lambert, violinist.

REV. CHARLES BAILEY OF ENID, OKLAHOMA, REFUSES TO

TION IN DEATHS OF MRS.
BAILEY AND DAUGHTER

Enid, Okla., Sept. 10. — (UP)—
The Rev. Charles Bailey today prepared his sermon for tomorrow refusing to discuss the double tragedy which has occurred to his family, and remaining silent on the topic of his relations with Miss Mary Atkinson, nurse held for investigation in the deaths of Mrs. Bailey and Mary Jane Bailey.

The Episcopal minister admitted yesterday he expected to propose marriage to the nurse. He said she was of a "very affectionate nature," but he refused to discuss the matter further today.

Miss Atkinson continued to hold an adamant silence with regards to the whole affair. She does not desire anyone notified of her incarceration, she said as "no one would be interested."

No definite action is to be taken in the case until an examination of the viscera of Mary Jane is completed in Oklahoma City, authorities said today. This probably will take a few days.

Mrs. Bailey died a short time ago and Mary Jane died early this week.
A twin sister of the girl, Helen Jane,
suffered a serious illness but has recovered sufficiently to declare she believed there was a definite plot to kill the family.

Helen Jane asserted it was "distressing the way Miss Atkinson acted with father." Two sons did not visit to talk about the matter. They were so grieved over the death of one of their sisters they would not comment.

A quantity of eserine, drug which causes paralysis of the respiratory organs, was found in Miss Atkinson's room. Several letters from the minister, the contents of which were not revealed, were said by authorities to have led to the nurse's arrest.

"The minister's congregation specu-lated on the matter and as to whether Rev. Bailey would preach tomorrow, but it was believed he would conduct services in his church here tomorrow as usual. It was announced at the minister's home that he was preparing to do so.

SEEK HABEAS CORPUS RELEASE TO VOID EXTRADITION

Vancouver, B. C., Sept. 10. — (UP)— Father Patrick O'Connor of Birmingham, Ala., was released today under bond of $5,000 pending hearing of a petition for a writ of habeas corpus.

Arguments on the petition will be held next Tuesday, it was indicated to-
day. Attorneys for Father O'Connor launched the habeas corpus proceedings after the local extradition commissioner had approved a request for his return to Alabama to face charges of performing an illegal operation.
An appeal also will be taken from the decision of the extradition commissioner within the next 15 days.

to put into operation, our banking and commerce, as well as our agriculture, to organize, and our political and our social problems to solve.
All of these have made necessary a great supply of material resources for their creation and support. We have been excessively busy seeking for information that could be turned to practical advantage in the matter of dollars and cents, rather than
for that wisdom which would guide us through eternity.

"I cannot conceive that the object of Abraham Lincoln was merely to instruct men how to raise more corn, to feed more hogs, to get more money, to buy more land, and so on in the expanding circle as the story grows. Of course he wanted to teach men to raise more corn, but his main object must have been to raise better men.

"All our science and all of our arts will never be the means for the true advancement of our nation, will never remove us from the sphere of the superficial and the cynical, will never give us a civilization and a culture of any worthy and lasting importance unless we are able to see
in them the outward manifestation of a spiritual reality. Unless our halls of learning are real temples

which are to be approached by our youth in an attitude of reverence, exaggerated by worship of the truth, they will all end in delusion. The information that is acquired in them will simply provide a greater capacity for evil. Our institutions of learning must be dedicated to a higher purpose. The life of our na-

ACTIVITIES FOR SCOUTS PLANNED

All Brainerd Troops Will Meet With
in Few Days to Plan Interesting Year

L. O. O. M. HAS TROOP

Troops 1, 2, 3 and 5 to Meet at Respective Rooms Monday
Evening

All Brainerd Troops will be meeting within the next few days in preparation for a mighty interesting year. Several Troops will have new leaders and one Troop has
a sponsoring institution.

All Scouts of Troop One will be pleased to hear that the Loyal Order
of Moose have taken interest in them
to the extent of taking the active sponsorship of the Troop. Troop One will hereafter meet in the new
lodge rooms of the Moose and in all probability have a Troop room of
their own in which to display trophies they win, collections they
make and troop equipment. Togo Ericson, who has been leader of the troop this past year, will resume his duties as scoutmaster this fall. The troop will meet Monday night at 7:30 o'clock in the new lodge rooms of the Moose.

Troop Two, sponsored by the Knights of Pythias Lodge, under the leadership of Gilbert Luken and J.
H. Walin, chairman of the troop committee, with assistant Scoutmaster Leland Avery, will hold their first meeting Monday at 7:30 o'clock
in their troop room in the basement of the court house. Troop Two promises to be one of the most active troops this fall and winter.

Troop Three, sponsored by a group
of citizens of Northeast Brainerd,
will have a new leader this fall. It is regretted that Jim Templeton can not continue as Scoutmaster but it is felt that Milton Anders, who has come to Brainerd as an apprentice
at the N. P. shops, will be well liked by the boys and prove to be a very effective Scoutmaster. Mr. Anders
has asked to have the boys meet
with him in their regular troop room Monday night at 7:30 o'clock to get acquainted. Every boy who is looking for an interesting time this winter should be at this meeting provided he is twelve years old.

Troop Four, under the very able
leadership of L. N. Hanson, will resume its definite fall program Wednesday night in their troop room in Southeast Brainerd. George Falconer, chairman of the troop committee, announces that a very fine
young man who has come to Brainerd this fall to teach in the high school, will be down to look the gang over with a view to relieving
M. Hanson of the active leadership of the troop. Mr. Hanson will continue as a troop committeeman. Mr.
Hiden who is quite an athlete himself will be very much liked by all
the boys.

Troop Five will hold their first
fall meeting in the basement of the Congregational church at 7:30 o'clock Monday night. C. C. Carlton, assistant forest ranger, will be the
new Scoutmaster, succeeding Ed J.
Egan. Mr. Carlton attended the Iasca Park Scout Leaders' Training Course during August where he had
training under many of the national Scout men. Every old member of
the troop and all boys on the north side twelve years of age should be there.

Troop Seven will start meeting the
ership of Henry Nolan. Tommy Larkin, who was active with the troop
last spring, has had to give up active leadership until later in the season
because he is living out in the country. Mr. Nolan should prove a very interesting leader, however, and will announce later when the first meeting
of the troop will be held.

The Fall Round-up will be held September 16 and 17 at Lum Park. A patrol is expected from every troop.
The events will be the same as last spring.

Six scouts will be initiated to the
Fraternity, at Camp Clearwater tonight. Candidates are Malcolm Elison and Dale Sanders of Brainerd, Clifton Blom, Clinton Wilcox and Sam
Heft of Aitkin.

Elephant Ignores Fences

An elephant which escaped from a circus at Newtown, Australia, recently, evidently considered fences beneath his notice, for he walked through them without stopping. Pedestrians and vehicles were narrowly
missed and gardens destroyed before he was captured in a nearby town.

The apparent odor of garlic so frequently sensed in the subways and
other electric trains is most apt to
arise from the car's electric brakes,
rather than from the dietary vagaries
of the passengers, says Science and Invention. Sparking, which occurs in
a garlic smell.

Her Gladiolas

Al and Aleta Cronin who head the vaudeville bill at the Park tonight
present smart songs and dances with special scenery. This man and woman do a very clever routine of dances and songs.

Harry Fidler, without a fiddle, is a Chinese impersonator, while his singing, jokes and personality prove
popular.

The big act on tonight's program
is Gladys and her Gladiolas, a whirly girlly melange of songs, dances and music. Special scenery comes with
this act, which includes six girls, a
dancer. Eau Claire, Wis., states
that this is the best band for its
season. They have a beautiful set
and nice clean costumes.

The next act is Art Linick presented "Schlagenhauer." This well known radio character comedian
with a versatile personality, puts on
a great act.

The last act, Arthur and Darling
is a very unusual and novel act presented the dancing frog and his consort. The man impersonates a frog and is a very clever contortion-
butterfly.

The feature picture is Rex Beach's
"The Goose Woman" featuring Jack Pickford, Louise Dresser and Constance Bennett. The orchestra is in charge of Arthur Lambert, violinist.

REV. CHARLES BAILEY OF ENID,

The Rev. Charles Bailey today prepared his sermon for tomorrow refusing to discuss the double tragedy
which has occurred to his family,
and remaining silent on the topic of
his relations with Miss Mary Atkinson, nurse held for investigation in
the deaths of Mrs. Bailey and Mary Jane Bailey.

The Episcopal minister admitted yesterday he expected to propose marriage to the nurse. He said she was of a "very affectionate nature,"
but he refused to discuss the matter further today.

Miss Atkinson continued to hold
an adamant silence with regards to the whole affair. She does not desire any notification of her incarceration, she said as "no one would be interested."

No definite action is to be taken in the case until an examination of the viscera of Mary Jane is completed in Oklahoma City, authorities said today. This probably will take a few days.

Mrs. Bailey died a short time ago
and Mary Jane died early this week.
A twin sister of the girl, Helen Jane,
suffered a serious illness but has recovered sufficiently to declare she believed there was a definite plot to kill the family.

Helen Jane asserted it was "distressing the way Miss Atkinson acted
with father." Two sons did not wish to talk about the matter. They were so grieved over the death of one of their sisters they would not comment.

A quantity of eserine, drug which
causes paralysis of the respiratory
organs, was found in Miss Atkin-
son's room. Several letters from the minister, the contents of which were
not revealed, were said by authorities to have led to the nurse's arrest.

The minister's congregation specu-lated on the matter and as to whether Rev. Bailey would preach tomorrow, but it was believed he
would conduct services in his church here tomorrow as usual. It was announced at the minister's home that he was preparing to do so.

Vancouver, B. C., Sept. 10. — (UP)— Father Patrick O'Connor of Birmingham, Ala., was released today under bond of $5,000 pending hearing of a petition for a writ of habeas corpus.

Arguments on the petition will be
held next Tuesday, it was indicated to-
day. Attorneys for Father O'Connor
launched the habeas corpus proceedings after the local extradition commissioner had approved a request for
his return to Alabama to face charges
of performing an illegal operation.

An appeal also will be taken from
the decision of the extradition commissioner within the next 15 days.

to put into operation, our banking

All of these have made necessary a
great supply of material resources
for their creation and support. We have been excessively busy seeking
for information that could be turned
to practical advantage in the matter of dollars and cents, rather than
for that wisdom which would guide
us through eternity.

"I cannot conceive that the object

grows. Of course he wanted to teach
men to raise more corn, but his main object must have been to raise better men.

"All our science and all of our
arts will never be the means for the
never remove us from the sphere of
never give us a civilization and a culture of any worthy and lasting
in them the outward manifestation
of a spiritual reality. Unless our halls of learning are real temples

which are to be approached by our
youth in an attitude of reverence, sacrosanct by worship of the truth, they will all end in delusion. The information that is acquired in them
will simply provide a greater capacity for evil. Our institutions of learning must be dedicated to a higher purpose. The life of our nation must rise to a higher realm.

"There is something more in

EARLY AMERICAN FURNITURE

THERE are few things that help us visualize the early lives of our grandparents or great grandparents better than the articles they had for service, pleasure or beauty in their homes.

Many of the household things used in early American days are shown in a comprehensive exhibit at the State Fair, planned, collected and arranged by the Daughters of the American Revolution of Minnesota. Each of the five rooms of a typical colonial home is furnished to represent the corresponding room of years ago.

Practically all of the furniture used in one of the rooms is made of curly maple. This material was largely used during the early eighties, its popularity continuing through the Civil War period. Bedsteads, chests, chairs and many other articles were made of this beautifully grained wood.

Hooked rugs beautified many old American homes. Some of them are marvels of design, color and workmanship. The slat-back, or ladder-back chair is probably as typically an American development as any piece of furniture. It has three to five horizontal slats, their upper edges sometimes slightly curved. It is an early and familiar Colonial piece.

In early American days all sorts of domestic utensils and many other articles were made of pewter, a material usually composed of an alloy of tin and lead. Pewter was gradually replaced by china, glass and silver.

Candles were of course the chief means of illumination in America's early history. They were made in molds, most homes having their own molds and making their own candles. The candlesticks were made of brass, copper, pewter, silver or glass.

Washington's home at Mt. Vernon is a delightful place to see all these early types of home furniture and furnishings. The big four-poster beds, the andirons, bed warmers, melodeon, fancy work, rugs, the kitchen and its utensils, the sewing room and its spinning wheel, etc., all these bring a vivid realization of the life and home of the pioneers who shaped the foundation and the future of this great republic.

In our own state the Daughters of the American Revolution have restored the Sibley house at Mendota and it now houses a wonderful collection of early American relics. It is owned by the Daughters of the American Revolution.

ROAD BUILDING IS APPRECIATED

UNLESS one travels extensively it is hard to realize how much road building has been accomplished in this country within the past few years. It seems but yesterday that most cities boasted only one or two paved streets, while, in the open country, gravel roads were the rule and most of them were not in good shape.

But today, whatever direction you go, you find a perfect network of broad, well kept highways. These smooth roads, many paved with cement, run through cities and communities and through the open places.

It is little wonder that the number of motorists keeps growing every month. The lure of these good roads is an almost irresistible urge. Friends and relatives who formerly were seen only at long periods can now be visited almost as easily as if they lived in the same community. The barrier of distance has been cut down.

In the old days it was a ten mile buggy jaunt that was the limit of one's acquaintanceship. Now it is an automobile run of say 200 miles. As roads are further improved and extended, as cars are improved in running qualities, so will this radius be enlarged and soon states will be as neighborly as the crossroads settlements in the "thanks for the buggy ride" days.

THE CENT

A BUSINESS man in the middle west deplores the careless and even scornful attitude of this generation toward the penny. We are contemptuous of this humblest of coins, he avers. People drop pennies and do not bother picking them up. They deliberately leave them on counters in stores and banks. This merchant, a self-made man who came up through hard work and practice of thrift, expressed not only dismay but indignation at such prodigality.

Well, there are not many penny-wise people today. Time was when a penny was a penny, and not only children but men and women counted it. A penny today will purchase practically as much as it did 50 years ago, but where there was one penny then there are 100 now. People spend recklessly. There is an extravagance in this country which startles visitors from the old world. We are the freest spenders on earth and are proud of it. A nation of tightwads would be deplorable, but a nation of spendthrifts is almost as bad.

The humble penny deserves to be treated with respect. It takes only from two to five of them to buy a newspaper. The penny may be humble when compared with quarters and half dollars, but it merits a decent regard, not contempt or scorn.—Chaska Herald.

FLAPPERS SAME IN ALL AGES

FLAPPERS of Rome, of early Egypt, of the dawn of history, were much the same as those of the present and their elders in the old days shook their heads and wondered if the world would survive. And it has survived.

There were probably as many pessimists in the old days as now, as many who "viewed with alarm" as those who tried to interpret the ways of glowing youth.

As mentioned by the Boston Transcript the flappers of 5,000 years ago were not so different from the wielders of lipstick and vanity case of the present generation. Paint and powder boxes, mirrors and ivory combs figure prominently in archaeological finds at Ur in Mesopotamia.

Never before in Mesopotamia, said Professor Magoffin, have so many articles been found that were used or worn by the ladies. At E-Nun-Makh, a temple site near Ur, an ivory jewel casket of great beauty came to light bearing a Phoenician inscription to Astarte, the Phoenician Venus. Rings, diadems, earrings, and gold and silver beads have been found in profusion in the 200 tombs that have been opened in the past year. One of the most striking pieces was a chain of pure gold set with lapis lazuli, which, according to the excavators, looked as new as if it had been made yesterday in spite of having been buried 5,000 years.

SYNOPSIS

Fabien, good and handsome youth of France, trains for the priesthood; but meets and loves Manon Lescaut, beautiful orphan, whose rascally brother, realizing her worldly value, barbers her to Ravoire, rich connoisseur of women. Fabien saves her and carries her off to Paris. Manon's brother steals her for Ravoire. Circumstances force her to surrender to Ravoire. She rejoins Fabien, and they live so extravagantly that Fabien is forced to capitalize a genius for cards. The King, incognito, asks to meet Manon, then plays Fabien at cards.

The King appropriated the first deal. He lost the hand and a sum of money that brought forth an irritable frown. Fabien noticed it and inquired politely:

"Do you care to continue?" He stacked his winnings in neat piles.

The King meditated a moment. He prided himself on his playing and was an ungracious loser. An idea that had been struggling in the back of his mind since learning of the relationship between Manon and Fabien suddenly became clarified.

"We shall continue by all means—and the stakes are to be higher," he said sharply.

"It is immaterial to me," Fabien replied with a shrug of indifference. King Louis noticed his opponent's indifference. It angered him.

Although Fabien knew the identity of his opponent, there was no reason to admit it until now. He had not been granted the honor of being properly presented. The King, on his part, had felt secure in his incognito. He had scarcely forgotten about the royal coat of arms on his little finger ring and had no idea that Fabien had known him from the first.

"Now we will play," said the King, as though the matter were settled beyond dispute. No one could refuse the King of France.

"I am only a subject of France—you are her King!" Fabien was not in a position to say more, and it would have been treason to refuse now that the King's identity had been made known.

Without another word the King picked up the cards. He omitted the formality of cutting and dealt.

Manon and Fabien looked deeply into each other's eyes across the few feet of space that separated them. Hers were filled with pleading and terror. Fabien's tried to say, "Don't worry, darling mine, I will win!"

The Duc de Richelieu restrained Manon from going to Fabien's side.

When news of the King's presence spread about the room other games and tables were deserted.

The air became electric with tension and suspense. Everyone gathered about the small table where His Majesty King Louis of France was playing with the most expert card man of Paris.

Fabien's face was stolid, inscrutable. He was playing for his very life.

The King fanned his cards and glanced at them furtively with narrowing eyes. They played. Fabien took the first trick. The King won the second. The third again fell to Fabien.

He hesitated long enough to catch Manon's attention. His soul was in his eyes, and she did her best to smile back encouragingly. The game went on.

"This will be the last deal, Monsieur—the next hand will decide the game!" The King was nervous.

"As you will, Your Majesty," Fabien bowed, but there was no trace of emotion in his face or manner.

His control was superb.

The King played with conscious deliberation. His first three cards were all kings. A smile of satisfaction followed each one to the board. It seemed to say, "You have only one chance to beat a King."

The double meaning was significant to everyone. But each time Louis' smile quickly disappeared as he saw his antagonist top his card with an ace! He watched furtively, plainly annoyed rather than worried, at such unusual luck.

Fabien's steady eyes did not miss a single move of his opponent's. He saw him manipulate a card, although he gave no sign. Up until this point Fabien's success had been due entirely to luck. Fate had given him the ace of spades, clubs and hearts as well as one useless card of small denomination. He had taken three tricks—the game was his! Fabien permitted a relieved smile to relax his face, the last trick would not matter. Then why was the King surreptitiously changing his last card? Fabien's temples pounded furiously.

The King was speaking: "The cards we have played do not count. Whoever takes this last trick wins!"

The injustice of the thing was appalling. However, it made Fabien understand the hopelessness of his situation. No! It must not be hopeless. He must win!

Fabien had learned how to cheat in order to give Manon all the luxuries she craved. Now he would cheat to keep her for his own. It was well he had practiced—he needed it. The King was watching him intently. Fabien did not waver. Catching Louis' gaze, he looked into the pupils of the royal eyes until they contracted to needle point dimension in an effort to shut out the hypnotic force that prevented him from turning away.

While Fabien's eyes thus held the King's attention he manipulated his last worthless card. The card that was to decide Manon's fate. He managed it so cleverly that Lescaut was the only other one in the room who knew what had happened. His admiration did him credit.

It was Fabien's turn to play. He turned up the ace of diamonds! The highest card left in the pack! No one dared make a sound—their King had lost!

A peculiar expression lighted up the King's face. He looked slowly from Fabien to the winning ace on the table, then back to the lone card in his own hand. After a moment's deliberation he played—the ace of diamonds!

A breathless silence filled the room.

The Chevalier Des Grieux had been caught cheating. His face was white, but he continued to look steadily at the King.

Manon was terrified.

A gleam of triumph made the Comte De Ravoire look like a younger and happier man. This was superior to any punishment he had been able to think of.

Ivory Auction Draws Dealers to London

Every three months London holds a great ivory auction in Mincing lane. Trucks of elephant, hippo and wild bear are put on view and cover several acres, popularly known as "the ivory floor." The walrus and narwhal also contribute. At an auction held recently some forty tons of this valuable article of commerce resulted in brisk bidding.

The ivory handled in this London market arrives from various parts of Africa. It is said that elephants, living in herds, elect when possible to die in a community cemetery.

People who know an elephant's tusks only as they appear on the living animal are inevitably surprised at the great length of the tusks displayed for sale. It is explained that nearly half of the tusk is carried inside.

Transportation in China

The Kulgan railway was built by the Chinese to take over the traffic that has been performed since the dawning of civilization by the stony Bactrian camels of central Asia. The line stretches from Peking, through the Nankai pass and across several mountain ridges to Kulgan. There the caravans still take up their burdens for the arduous trek across the Gobi. The pass, the mountains, the desert-like plains beyond, are bleak and forbidding. There is a compelling fascination, however, about this country that arises from the mystery that surrounds it and the ferocity of the hungry hordes who infest it. There is something delightfully fearful in its aspect. A man of imagination, looking at the rugged mountains, has an almost insatiable craving to learn at least a hint of what is hidden behind their buttresses.—William Ashley Anderson in Adventure Magazine.

He accuses his political opponents of murder and so forth, and—presto—his own supporters jump in and assassinate an opposition senator."

Mr. Villard laughed.

"It seems," he said, "as if every time Mussolini turns the limelight on himself it hits him in the back."—Detroit Free Press.

It's a neighbor-maker

Over in the bunkhouse the boys of the Bar-C outfit have Kansas City on the radio. In her Park Avenue apartment, the slim fingers of a famous actress turn the dials, and the same music leaps forth. Forty miles north of Milwaukee, Chris Jonsen, the dirt farmer, is listening in on the same wave-length.

The same sort of thing is going on everywhere, all over the country, at all hours of the day and night. Folks in Los Angeles see the same movies, and ride in the same automobiles that New Yorkers enjoy. The resident of Seattle wears the same sort of clothes, eats the same brand of bacon, and lives in the same kind of house as his neighbor in Portland, Maine.

Advertising has done it. Advertising, the miracle worker, keeps everyone in the land attuned to the latest in everything. It has changed the buying habits of a nation. It is the great modern force that makes neighbors of the people of far countries, that brings the best of their customs to us, and takes ours to them.

EARLY AMERICAN FURNITURE

THERE are few things that help us visualize the early lives of our grandparents or great grandparents better than the articles they had for service, pleasure or beauty in their homes.

Many of the household things used in early American days are shown in a comprehensive exhibit at the State Fair, planned, collected and arranged by the Daughters of the American Revolution of Minnesota. Each of the five rooms of a typical colonial home is furnished to represent the corresponding room of years ago.

Practically all of the furniture used in one of the rooms is made of curly maple. This material was largely used during the early eighties, its popularity continuing through the Civil War period. Bedsteads, chests, chairs and many other articles were made of this beautifully grained wood.

Hooked rugs beautified many old American homes. Some of them are marvels of design, color and workmanship. The slat-back, or ladder-back chair is probably as typically an American development as any piece of furniture. It has three to five horizontal slats, their upper edges sometimes slightly curved. It is an early and familiar Colonial piece.

In early American days all sorts of domestic utensils and many other articles were made of pewter, a material usually composed of an alloy of tin and lead. Pewter was gradually replaced by china, glass and silver.

Candles were of course the chief means of illumination in America's early history. They were made in molds, most homes having their own molds and making their own candles. The candlesticks were made of brass, copper, pewter, silver or glass.

Washington's home at Mt. Vernon is a delightful place to see all these early types of home furniture and furnishings. The big four-poster beds, the andirons, bed warmers, melodeon, fancy work, rugs, the kitchen and its utensils, the sewing room and its spinning wheel, etc., all these bring a vivid realization of the life and home of the pioneers who shaped the foundation and the future of this great republic.

In our own state the Daughters of the American Revolution have restored the Sibley house at Mendota and it now houses a wonderful collection of early American relics. It is owned by the Daughters of the American Revolution.

UNLESS one travels extensively it is hard to realize how much road building has been accomplished in this country within the past few years. It seems but yesterday that most cities boasted only one or two paved streets, while, in the open country, gravel roads were the rule and most of them were not in good shape.

But today, whatever direction you go, you find a perfect network of broad, well kept highways. These smooth roads, many paved with cement, run through cities and communities and through the open places.

It is little wonder that the number of motorists keeps growing every month. The lure of these good roads is an almost irresistible urge. Friends and relatives who formerly were seen only at long periods can now be visited almost as easily as if they lived in the same community. The barrier of distance has been cut down.

In the old days it was a ten mile buggy jaunt that was the limit of one's acquaintanceship. Now it is an automobile run of say 200 miles. As roads are further improved and extended, as cars are improved in running qualities, so will this radius be enlarged and soon states will be as neighborly as the crossroads settlements in the "thanks for the buggy ride" days.

THE CENT

A BUSINESS man in the middle west deprecates the careless and even scornful attitude of this generation toward the penny. We are contemptuous of this humblest of coins, he avers. People drop pennies and do not bother picking them up. They deliberately leave them on counters in stores and banks. This merchant, a self-made man who came up through hard work and practice of thrift, expressed not only dismay but indignation at such prodigality.

Well, there are not many penny-wise people today. Time was when a penny was a penny, and not only children but men and women counted it. A penny today will purchase practically as much as it did 50 years ago, but where there was one penny then there are 100 now. People spend recklessly. There is an extravagance in this country which startles visitors from the old world. We are the freest spenders on earth and are proud of it. A nation of tightwads would be deplorable, but a nation of spendthrifts is almost as bad.

The humble penny deserves to be treated with respect. It takes only from two to five of them to buy a newspaper. The penny may be humble when compared with quarters and half dollars, but it merits a decent regard, not contempt or scorn.—Chaska Herald.

FLAPPERS of Rome, of early Egypt, of the dawn of history, were much the same as those of the present and their elders in the old days shook their heads and wondered if the world would survive. And it has survived.

There were probably as many pessimists in the old days as now, as many who "viewed with alarm" as those who tried to interpret the ways of glowing youth.

As mentioned by the Boston Transcript the flappers of 5,000 years ago were not so different from the wielders of lipstick and vanity case of the present generation. Paint and powder boxes, mirrors and ivory combs figure prominently in archaeological finds at Ur in Mesopotamia.

Never before in Mesopotamia, said Professor Magoffin, have so many articles been found that were used or worn by the ladies. At E-Nun-Makh, a temple site near Ur, an ivory jewel casket of great beauty came to light bearing a Phoenician inscription to Astarte, the Phoenician Venus. Rings, diadems, earrings, and gold and silver beads have been found in profusion in the 200 tombs that have been opened in the past year. One of the most striking pieces was a chain of pure gold set with lapis lazuli, which, according to the excavators, looked as new as if it had been made yesterday in spite of having been buried 5,000 years.

Fabien, good and handsome youth of France, trains for the priesthood; but meets and loves Manon Lescaut, beautiful orphan, whose vicious brother, realizing her worldly value, hurls her to Ravoire, rich connoisseur of women. Fabien saves her and carries her off to Paris. Manon's brother steals her for Ravoire. Circumstances force her to surrender to Ravoire. She rejoins Fabien, and they live so extravagantly that Fabien is forced to capitalize a genius for cards. The King, incoincidentally, meets Manon, then plays Fabien at cards.

The King appropriated the first deal. He lost the hand and a sum of money that brought forth an irritable frown. Fabien noticed it and inquired politely:

"Do you care to continue?" He stacked his winnings in neat piles. The King meditated a moment.

He prided himself on his playing and was an ungracious loser. An idea that had been struggling in the back of his mind since learning of the relationship between Manon and Fabien suddenly became clear.

"We shall continue by all means—and the stakes are to be higher," he said sharply.

"It is immaterial to me," Fabien replied with a shrug of indifference. King Louis noticed his opponent's indifference. It angered him.

"We will play for the stakes I suggest!"

Deliberately turning around in his chair he looked at Manon with the same sort of expression that a hungry wolf flashes upon his prey.

Fabien did not miss the by-play. His lips set in a hard, straight line. He drew in his breath sharply and exerted every effort to refrain from making a scene.

Manon was so superbly created for love that it is not strange the King, as well as others, desired her. Nor is it strange that Fabien, as her chosen lover, should resent the covetous glances that other men showered upon her. One comfort was the assurance of Manon's fidelity to him. He thought her so good, so innocent and precious that he forgot the horrible incidents of the past which caused others to classify her as a different woman entirely.

When the King again turned his attention to the game Fabien's face was inscrutable. His hands were too well trained to shake, but his heart was pounding furiously.

With the effect of just having evolved the idea, the King said: "We will resume playing. This time the stakes will be any of my possessions that you may choose to name against—" the King leaned across the table, "Mademoiselle Lescaut!"

For a second Fabien's heart stopped beating. His eyes shone like pin points of steel. Without fear he looked squarely into the King's masked eyes and said:

"Monseigneur—one does not reach to Heaven for a star and fling it upon the soiled cloth of a gaming table."

A quick flush of anger suffused Louis' face. "We will play for the stakes I suggest!" It was the King rather than the man speaking.

"I will not play!" Fabien's jaw was set. Only his eyes smiled. With a gesture of finality he placed his cards on the table.

"Are you uncertain of your skill—or merely afraid?" the King inquired.

"Neither!" Fabien's calmness annoyed the King.

With an angry gesture Louis ripped off his mask and exposed himself to the interested spectators, who by this time had gathered close about the table.

"The King! King Louis of France!" came in loud whispers from many throats.

It's a neighbor-maker

Over in the bunkhouse the boys of the Bar-C outfit have Kansas City on the radio. In her Park Avenue apartment, the slim fingers of a famous actress turn the dials, and the same music leaps forth. Forty miles north of Milwaukee, Chris Jonsen, the dirt farmer, is listening in on the same wave-length.

The same sort of thing is going on everywhere, all over the country, at all hours of the day and night. Folks in Los Angeles see the same movies, and ride in the same automobiles that New Yorkers enjoy. The resident of Seattle wears the same sort of clothes, eats the same brand of bacon, and lives in the same kind of house as his neighbor in Portland, Maine.

Advertising has done it. Advertising, the miracle worker, keeps everyone in the land attuned to the latest in everything. It has changed the buying habits of a nation. BIG BOYS MAY DO SOME REAL BOXING, 'TIS SAID

THREAT OF MILLION-DOLLAR PUGILISTS MATCH SEPT. 22 MAY HOLD GOOD

DEMPESEY HAD TO APPEAR IN COURT SUIT OF CLEMENTS VS. DEMPESEY

Chicago, Sept. 10.—(UP)—Threat of the million-dollar pugilists matched to meet here Sept. 22 to do some boxing in preparation for the event continued today and it looked as if they might go through with it.

Dempesey's training program was seriously interfered with yesterday by necessity of appearing before Judge Otto Kerner and assembled photographers in the suit of B. C. Clements vs. Dempesey et al.

Clements, it developed at a hearing for an injunction to stop Dempesey's fight with Gene Tunney, bought a contract from Floyd Fitzsimmons, promoter, in which Jack, then heavyweight champion, agreed in writing to box Harry Wills before he fought anyone else.

Dempesey never did fight Wills as Tunney had appropriated the heavyweight title and the giant negro had fallen to the level of a semi-finalist before they got around to it.

Dempesey's attorney argued that Clements' only recourse was a suit for damages which had been already been filed. Judge Kerner was to make a decision Monday.

Reports from Tunney's country estate were to the effect it had been announced definitely that Gene would enter the ring this afternoon in spite of the wound over his eye inflicted when he boxed several days ago with Chuck Wiggins.

Tunney insisted he would not be handicapped by inactivity and told his critics he had more to worry about than they did concerning his condition for it is Gene's heavyweight championship which the once decisively beaten Dempesey will try to win back and not the critics.

The champion also asserted he wasn't in the least angry at Wiggins, considered him a very valuable sparring partner, and that he would be back in the camp next week.

BREAKDOWN IN CUBS' PITCHING STAFF EVIDENT

FOLLOWS THEIR INFIELD WEAKNESS REVEALED IN RECENT GAME

NEW YORK HAS GOOD CHANCE TO PUSH PITTSBURGH FROM LEAD

(By United Press)

Breakdown in the Cubs' secondary pitching staff which followed their infield weakness gave New York a good chance during the current series to push Pittsburgh from the lead in the National League. The Pirates had to fight hard yesterday to win 3 to 2 from the last place Phils while the Giants beat the Cubs easily, 7 to 2. The defeat put the Cubs in fourth place. The standing:

Team	W.	L.	Pct.	Today
Pittsburgh	77	53	.592	.595
New York	76	53	.589	.592
St. Louis	74	55	.574	.577
Chicago	76	58	.567	.570

The Giants made short work of Phil Weinert, Cubs' southpaw, scoring three runs in the second. Weinert was removed but Jones fared no better. Meanwhile, Grimes kept the Chicago hits scattered and ineffective.

After Brooklyn had "won" an extra inning game by scoring one in the tenth, Lester Bell came up with two on base in the Cards' half of the inning and hit a home run which made the score 8 to 6 in favor of St. Louis.

Pittsburgh became troublesome to Phoebe of Philadelphia in the fourth and bunched hits which scored three runs and won the game, 3 to 2. Aldridge allowed the Phils only six hits.

The Reds concentrated their attack in the fourth and eighth innings to win from Boston, 8 to 1. Rixey, pitching for Cincinnati, kept the Braves' hits scattered.

Vangilder of the Browns allowed the Yankees to score five in the fifth and three in the sixth before he was relieved. The score was 9 to 3 in favor of New York.

Harris of the Red Sox limited the Indians to one hit, to win 6 to 1. He allowed three bases on balls and hit in the third, but managed to hold Cleveland to only one run.

Tight pitching by Whitehill enabled the Tigers to take the final game of their series with Philadelphia, 5 to 2. The Tigers got 12 hits off Elmer and Walberg while the Athletics registered only four sacrifices.

Ted Lyons, White Sox pitching ace, was responsible for another lopsided score. He shut out the Senators 8 to 0, allowing only three hits. Marberry was driven from the game early by Chicago.

St. Paul, Minn.—Shutting out the Blues 5 to 0 in the first game of a double-header and fighting them to a 4-4 tie in the second game, St. Paul caused Kansas City to vacate the lead in the American Association. The Blues gave way to Milwaukee. Zahniser pitched the shut-out. The second game was called at the ninth because of darkness.

Minneapolis, Minn.—A victory and a tie over Minneapolis left the Gowers in first place of the American Association. Milwaukee took the first of a double bill 3 to 2 and drew a 4-4 tie in ten innings in the second game. Jonnard held the Millers to five hits in the opener. Milwaukee tied the count with three runs in the ninth of the second game, darkness preventing a decision.

Toledo, O.—Recovering from their recent slump, the Toledo Mudhens gained on Kansas City and Milwaukee by defeating Louisville 7 to 4. Toledo bunched their twelve hits off Delahery to win.

Columbus, O.—Columbus threatened to draw some extra innings, scoring six runs in the ninth but the rally came too late and Indianapolis won, 11 to 9. Haney hit a homer for the Indians.

INSANE KILLER DIES AT FERGUS

Charles Herholtzer Who Murdered
Frederick Henry Scholer
Succumbed

Pumped 15 Buckshot Into Tent
Where Three Persons Slept
Early Sunday

Charles Herholtzer, insane mur-derer of his old time friend Frederick Henry Scholer, Minneapolis, died early today at Fergus Falls less than one week after the terrible night when he became incensed with the maniacal desire to kill as he pumped 15 buckshots into a tent near his farm home at Smith Lake where three persons were sleeping.
Herholtzer was taken to Fergus Falls last Tuesday following a sanity hearing when he was adjudged insane by Drs. J. A. Thabes and G. I.
Badeaux. The man at that time was declared to be slowly losing his vitality due to wildness and his utter refusal to accept eat or drink. Physicians here gave the man hypodermic injections but even these failed to quiet him.

The killing took place early Sunday morning when Herholtzer becoming suddenly violently insane,
grabbed a shot gun, paced the floor
of his little farm shack then stood at the window and shot 15 buckshot cartridges into the tent, killing Scholer and injuring a young man.

Miss Gertrude Fisher, his housekeeper, escaped from the house after he had threatened to kill her after telling her that she was crazy.

Herholtzer was 67 years old. He had operated the farm at Smith Lake for two years, previously living at Onamia where he had owned a shoe shop. Previous to this time he had lived at Minneapolis and had known Mr. Scholer, the victim, for close to 40 years. The victim had accepted Herholtzer's invitation to visit him and fish in Smith Lake and had slept in a tent not more than 15 feet away from the house.

Relatives of the insane man are reported to live in Minneapolis.

The Law and the Rich

Upton Sinclair, the novelist reformer, was talking about what he considered a notorious miscarriage of justice. "If you've got money," he said,
"you can do anything and get away with it. Yes, sir, when the accused has got plenty of money, the courts are all like the old German justice.
"Killy or not killy? the old German justice said to a man charged with stealing a barrel of coal oil.
"Not guilty, judge, yer honor," said the man.

"Den vot you want here?" said the old justice fiercely. "Go on away about your peezness."

Of Course!

Santa had left, among other things, an A-B-C slate, and Charles a five-year-old resident of Rural street, late in February, was learning to spell, having already mastered the A-B-C's.

One evening mother was having her turn at helping him spell.

"Oh, mother, I'm tired of old e-a-t
and d-o-g!"

"All right, sonny, here's a new one," said mother, "c-o-w—guess—it's well, what gives us our milk?"

"The milkman," promptly and seriously replied Charles.—Indianapolis News.

One Sinner

John and George, small sons of a Baptist minister, after listening to one of their father's sermons, decided to baptize their family of cats. The kit tens made no objection, but when it came to dousing the mother cat, she rebelled and fought and scratched until Johnny cried:
"Just sprinkle her, George, and let her take her chances."—Los Angeles Times.

Grandfather's Discovery

"No wonder everybody is running to the dentist all the time," says Grandfather. "These days people simply brush their teeth into dust and powder."—American Magazine.

INSANE KILLER DIES AT FERGUS

Charles Herholtzer Who Murdered
Frederick Henry Scholer
Succumbed

Where Three Persons Slept
Early Sunday

Charles Herholtzer, insane mur-derer of his old time friend Frederick Henry Scholer, Minneapolis, died early today at Fergus Falls less than one week after the terrible
night when he became incensed with
the maniacal desire to kill as he
pumped 15 buckshots into a tent
near his farm home at Smith Lake
where three persons were sleeping.
Herholtzer was taken to Fergus
Falls last Tuesday following a sanity
hearing when he was adjudged insane by Drs. J. A. Thabes and G. I.
Badeaux. The man at that time
was declared to be slowly losing his
vitality due to wildness and his utter refusal to accept eat or drink. Physicians here gave the man hypodermic injections but even these failed to quiet him.

The killing took place early Sunday morning when Herholtzer becoming suddenly violently insane,
grabbed a shot gun, paced the floor
of his little farm shack then stood at the window and shot 15 buckshot
cartridges into the tent, killing Scholer and injuring a young man.

Miss Gertrude Fisher, his housekeeper, escaped from the house after
he had threatened to kill her after telling her that she was crazy.
Herholtzer was 67 years old. He had operated the farm at Smith Lake
for two years, previously living at Onamia where he had owned a shoe
shop. Previous to this time he had lived at Minneapolis and had known Mr. Scholer, the victim, for close to 40 years. The victim had accepted Herholtzer's invitation to visit him
and fish in Smith Lake and had slept
in a tent not more than 15 feet away from the house.

Relatives of the insane man are

The Law and the Rich

Upton Sinclair, the novelist reformer, was talking about what he considered a notorious miscarriage of justice. "If you've got money," he said,
"you can do anything and get away with it. Yes, sir, when the accused
has got plenty of money, the courts
are all like the old German justice."
"Kilty or not kilty?" the old German justice said to a man charged
with stealing a barrel of coal oil.
"Not guilty, fudge, yer honor," said
the man.
"Den vot you vant here?" said the old justice fiercely. "Go on away

Of Course!

Santa had left, among other things,
an A-B-C slate, and Charles a five-
year-old resident of Rural street, late
in February, was learning to spell, having already mastered the A-B-C's.
One evening mother was having her
turn at helping him spell.
"Oh, mother, I'm tired of old e-a-t
and d-o-g."
"All right, sonny, here's a new one," said mother, "e-o-w—guess—it's well, what gives us our milk?"
"The milkman," promptly and seriously replied Charles.—Indianapolis

Train From Staples Delayed Three and One Half Hours This Morning

A track washout at Forsyth, Mont., which delayed the main line train was also responsible for the late arrival of the train from Staples in Brainerd this morning. The train was due here at 6 a. m. but did not arrive until 9:30 a. m.

The train coming to Brainerd was delayed by its forced wait for the main line train.

Ten Youngsters Provide Amusing Feature in "Leave It To Gloria"

One of the most interesting and amusing features of the big musical comedy revue, "Leave It To Gloria," which St. Francis Guild will present at the Park theatre on Sept. 13 and 14, is the Pickanniny dance done by 10 youngsters about knee high to a grasshopper to the music of the popular "coon song," "I Want to See My Tennessee."

Among all the more than 100 members of the cast there is none more enthusiastic or eager than this group of youngsters, and the way they romp through the darky cake-walk and shuffles is interesting.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

The best way to make sure not to get tuberculosis is to keep the body strong enough to fight the germs. This is easy enough if we will take a little trouble. And it is much easier to go to a little trouble in keeping well than to spend many months and a great deal of money in getting well. Here are the most important rules for keeping well. They are easy enough.

Food—Eat nourishing food, but not always the same food. You should have vegetables, like peas, beans, lentils, potatoes, spinach, carrots, onions or corn. You need a moderate amount of meat. You should always eat bread, oatmeal, rice, barley, wheat and other cereals. Milk is especially good for children. And above all, drink plenty of water.

Sleep—Get at least 8 hours' sleep out of every 24. Sleep at night is best, but if you must work at night, then 8 hours' sleep in the day time is the next best thing.

Exercise—Exercise is important. Walk to work if it is not too far. If it is, then take some form of exercise for at least 15 minutes every day. Take a walk outdoors after eating your lunch if you can.

Overwork—Don't overwork. You cannot work all day and then work all night too. Nor can you play all night after a hard day's work without danger to your health. The body needs change and rest. Extra work requires extra rest. You may also need time to play as well as to work or sleep.

Cleanliness—Always wash your hands before eating. Wash all raw fruits and vegetables before you eat them. Germs are often transferred to food by dirty hands. Keep pencils, nails and other articles that are unclean out of your mouth. Take at least one bath a week. A clean body makes the best fight against the attack of germs. Brush your teeth at least twice daily.

Medical examination—Finally, and this is most important, go to a doctor at least once a year and ask for a complete physical examination with chest bare. Perhaps you feel fine, but there may be some slight trouble that will develop into a serious illness later if it remains neglected. The doctor knows best how to find these little troubles.

OBEY TRAFFIC LAW; PREVENT ACCIDENTS

XXII. Right of Way Rule
The new state traffic law, like the old law, provides that when two vehicles enter an intersection at approximately the same time, the driver on the right shall have the right of way. The new law adds that "The driver of any vehicle or street car traveling at an unlawful rate of speed shall forfeit any right of way which he might otherwise have hereunder."

This may not help much to slow up those who are otherwise inclined to "travel at an unlawful speed" but it may have an important bearing in fixing the responsibility in case of an accident.

XXIII. More About Right of Way Rule

Another paragraph in the same section provides that "The driver of a vehicle or street car approaching but not having entered an intersection shall yield the right of way to a vehicle within such intersection and turning therein to the left across the line of travel of such first mentioned vehicle or street car, provided the driver of the vehicle turning to the left has given a plainly visible signal of intention to turn."

Left turns are the cause of hundreds of accidents, and drivers should exercise extreme caution when turning left. If all drivers will maintain moderate speed at intersections, accidents will be greatly reduced in number.

The state law provides that drivers entering any highway from an alley or private road, shall yield the right of way to all vehicles on such highway, and if the view is obstructed, they shall stop before crossing the sidewalk or entering the highway.

Drive Carefully on Soft Shoulders. New Grades, is Warning

When driving on new grades or shoulders after a rain, drive carefully, is the warning of the State Highway department. Washouts frequently occur on new grades. When these are filled, the new material may remain soft for some time and a car going at high speed and hitting one of these soft spots may slide into the ditch, with serious results.

Warning signs are posted near washouts until the repair is made, but it is not practicable to keep these signs on the road after the washout is filled. Careful driving when there is any indication of soft shoulders will prevent accidents.

Trunk highways in Minnesota are generally good, according to the weekly condition report issued by the State Highway department today.

Ten Thousand Lakes Fur Farms Corp., Show Animals at Minnesota State Fair

Pair of Beavers Each Weighing 80 Pounds and Two Months Offspring Are Shown

The muskrat and beaver exhibit at the state fair of the Ten Thousand Lakes Fur Farms Corp., which has offices at Brainerd and is developing several large acreages in this territory, has been attracting hundreds of visitors, according to a statement made by C. W. Henke, of the Brainerd office.

A pair of the largest beavers that have ever been seen, weighing about 80 pounds each, together with their two months old offspring are being shown. There are also 50 muskrats of all sizes. The exhibit is in the Game and Fish building.

"That there is a keen interest in the future of these fur-bearing animals is shown by the intense interest and eager questioning of those who visited the exhibit," Mr. Henke said.

"The officers and directors of the company were kept busy answering the questions and giving information as to their ranching of these animals and the method of the development of otherwise useless swamp lands into profitable producing and valuable acreages under proper examinations and direction.

"The animals shown were brought in from the wild state and within a day's time were tame enough to permit handling and petting by almost anyone."

Train From Staples Delayed Three and One Half Hours This Morning

A track washout at Forsyth, Mont., which delayed the main line train was also responsible for the late arrival of the train from Staples in Brainerd this morning. The train was due here at 6 a. m. but did not arrive until 9:30 a. m.

The train coming to Brainerd was delayed by its forced wait for the main line train.

WILL DO CAKE-WALK

Ten Youngsters Provide Amusing Feature in "Leave It To Gloria"

One of the most interesting and amusing features of the big musical comedy revue, "Leave It To Gloria," which St. Francis Guild will present at the Park theatre on Sept. 13 and 14, is the Pickaninny dance done by 10 youngsters about knee high to a grasshopper to the music of the popular "coon" song, "I Want to See My Tennessee."

Among all the more than 100 members of the cast there is none more enthusiastic or eager than this group of youngsters, and the way they romp through the darky cake-walk and shuffles is interesting.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

The best way to make sure not to get tuberculosis is to keep the body strong enough to fight the germs. This is easy enough if we will take a little trouble. And it is much easier to go to a little trouble in keeping well than to spend many months and a great deal of money in getting well. Here are the most important rules for keeping well. They are easy enough.

Food—Eat nourishing food, but not always the same food. You should have vegetables, like peas, beans, lentils, potatoes, spinach, carrots, onions or corn. You need a moderate amount of meat. You should always eat bread, oatmeal, rice, barley, wheat and other cereals. Milk is especially good for children. And above all, drink plenty of water.

Sleep—Get at least 8 hours' sleep out of every 24. Sleep at night is best, but if you must work at night, then 8 hours' sleep in the day time is the next best thing.

Exercise—Exercise is important. Walk to work if it is not too far. If it is, then take some form of exercise for at least 15 minutes every day. Take a walk outdoors after eating your lunch if you can.

Overwork—Don't overwork. You cannot work all day and then work all night too. Nor can you play all night after a hard day's work without danger to your health. The body needs change and rest. Extra work requires extra rest. You may also need time to play as well as to work or sleep.

Cleanliness—Always wash your hands before eating. Wash all raw fruits and vegetables before you eat them. Germs are often transferred to food by dirty hands. Keep pencils, nails and other articles that are unclean out of your mouth. Take at least one bath a week. A clean body makes the best fight against the attack of germs. Brush your teeth at least twice daily.

Medical examination—Finally, and this is most important, go to a doctor at least once a year and ask for a complete physical examination with chest bare. Perhaps you feel fine, but there may be some slight trouble that will develop into a serious illness later if it remains neglected. The doctor knows best how to find these little troubles.

XXII. Right of Way Rule
The new state traffic law, like the old law, provides that when two vehicles enter an intersection at approximately the same time, the driver on the right shall have the right of way. The new law adds that "The driver of any vehicle or street car traveling at an unlawful rate of speed shall forfeit any right of way which he might otherwise have hereunder."

This may not help much to slow up those who are otherwise inclined to "travel at an unlawful speed" but it may have an important bearing in fixing the responsibility in case of an accident.

XXIII. More About Right of Way Rule

Another paragraph in the same section provides that "The driver of a vehicle or street car approaching but not having entered an intersection shall yield the right of way to a vehicle within such intersection and turning therein to the left across the line of travel of such first mentioned vehicle or street car, provided the driver of the vehicle turning to the left has given a plainly visible signal of intention to turn."

Left turns are the cause of hundreds of accidents, and drivers should exercise extreme caution when turning left. If all drivers will maintain moderate speed at intersections, accidents will be greatly reduced in number.

The state law provides that drivers entering any highway from an alley or private road, shall yield the right of way to all vehicles on such highway, and if the view is obstructed, they shall stop before crossing the sidewalk or entering the highway.

The driver of any vehicle upon any highway must yield the right of way to ambulances and police and fire vehicles when the drivers thereof sound an audible signal. This, however, does not relieve the drivers of the latter vehicles from the duty to drive with due regard for the safety of all persons using the highway.

When driving on new grades or shoulders after a rain, drive carefully, is the warning of the State Highway department. Washouts frequently occur on new grades. When these are filled, the new material may remain soft for some time, and a car going at high speed and hitting one of these soft spots may slide into the ditch, with serious results.

Warning signs are posted near washouts until the repair is made, but it is not practicable to keep these signs on the road after the washout is filled. Careful driving when there is any indication of soft shoulders will prevent accidents.

Pair of Beavers Each Weighing 80 Pounds and Two Months Offspring Are Shown

The muskrat and beaver exhibit at the state fair of the Ten Thousand Lakes Fur Farms Corp., which has offices at Brainerd and is developing several large acreages in this territory, has been attracting hundreds of visitors, according to a statement made by C. W. Henke, of the Brainerd office.

A pair of the largest beavers that have ever been seen, weighing about 80 pounds each, together with their two months old offspring are being shown. There are also 50 muskrats of all sizes. The exhibit is in the Game and Fish building.

"That there is a keen interest in the future of these fur-bearing animals is shown by the intense interest and eager questioning of those who visited the exhibit," Mr. Henke said.

"The officers and directors of the company were kept busy answering the questions and giving information as to their ranching of these animals and the method of the development of otherwise useless swamp lands into profit producing and valuable acreages under proper examinations and direction.

TRUNK HIGHWAYS GENERALLY GOOD

Trunk highways in Minnesota are generally good, according to the weekly condition report issued by the State Highway department today. Continued rains and unusually heavy traffic have left some of the gravel roads rough, but maintenance men are doing their best to get them back in condition. Only two short stretches in the entire system are reported "poor," and all are passable.

Detailed reports of conditions on the so-called Babcock roads marked with the official yellow star follow, insofar as they refer to the Brainerd Lake Region:

Her Change of Heart

By JANE OSBORN

"MADGE, dear!"

"Walter."

That was the way they began. After a separation of four months Madge had written to Walter and told him that she would be glad to have him call that Saturday afternoon, and she had anticipated the little interview under the grape arbor beside her father's country house with a tenderness that somehow seemed to leave her, now that she actually saw the slender young man approach her with outstretched hands.

"I wanted to tell you, Walter—dear," she said permitting him to take her hands gently in his as they sat down together on the bench under the arbor, "that I've changed my mind entirely—about what a girl ought to do. I didn't let you know because I wanted to be sure; and I wanted to surprise you, I—"

"But Madge, dear," said the young man, "you were perhaps entirely right. I've been thinking things over myself. I realize that conditions are not what they were when our mothers were young. My cousin has been spending the summer with us—Martha Stone—I know you'd like her and I have told her all about you. She believes as you do—that in these days a girl has the right to choose—whether she wants to devote herself to domestic matters or follow some career that she's really better suited for."

Madge looked up amazed but the young man continued. "The fact is, Madge, dear, that Martha somehow put the matter so I understood it. Martha has wonderful ideas—I know you and she will be great friends. She herself says that if she ever marries she will continue her music teaching."

Madge just sat and looked at Walter and felt the gentle pressure of his hand on hers without a bit of the thrill that she had expected. Six months ago when they saw each other for the last time they had come to a serious disagreement. They were making plans for an autumn wedding, and Madge had declared that she never intended to do any sort of housework. She had got her appointment as a high school teacher and she liked the work. Walter had protested—Walter who was ordinarily quite mild of manner had actually become quite angry. The engagement had not been actually broken, but Madge had gone off to visit an aunt and they had arranged between themselves not even to write for six months. They would think matters over.

So Madge had gone to visit her aunt. Still wearing her engagement ring she had met a nephew of her aunt's husband—Tom Bradford—and before many weeks had passed she had told Tom of her anxieties.

"I don't blame your Walter in the least," Tom had said. "I'd never want to marry a girl who wouldn't take an interest in her own home. If a girl didn't care enough for me to be willing to do that I wouldn't think she cared enough for me to marry me."

After that Madge registered in a school of domestic science and before another week had passed she was deeply interested in dietetics, cooking, household administration and was taking a course in dressmaking besides.

"So you see we really have my cousin Martha to thank," Walter was saying. "She showed me how absurd it would be for you—when you might be earning several thousand dollars a year even to start with—to be wasting your time on housework. She even suggested taking apartments—then we would both be quite free and we could get meals out and not bother keeping any maid. Martha has wonderful ideas—you certainly must meet her. Now you must tell me what you wanted to tell me about," said Walter.

Madge had slipped the ring from her finger that she had worn faithfully for six months of her absence. "I've been thinking things over, Walter. I really do think a great deal of you. But I was thinking that perhaps after all we oughtn't to be married. We might not have disagreed the way we did unless we were a little unsuited—"

Walter released the hand he had been holding—very gently, without apparently any emotion. "Well, of course," he said, "it is better to find that out now than later. My cousin Martha has such good ideas about marriage. She says she thinks most of the divorces nowadays are due to the fact that people don't really—"

Walter went on but Madge did not hear him. She was thinking of Tom that evening she left her aunt's. He had held her hand in a close grasp for a minute, then raising it impulsively to his lips he had kissed it and let it drop.

"Of course I want you to marry Walter if he can make you happy," he said. "But he can't possibly love you more than I do."

"I think perhaps I could make Tom happier than I could you," Madge told Walter. "And, of course, there's your cousin Martha." He was wondering as he fingered the ring whether it would be too small for Martha.

GOOD OBSERVER

Hal has an original method of expressing himself, for a three-year-old, and in telling about a horse he said: "The horse had a long chin, with a mouth right on the end of his chin, and it was so long it came clear down in the grass."

When the robins appeared in his yard recently he said, "There are pigeons in our yard, mamma, with red tummies."

Orders

Mr. Wampus was sitting quietly in the pharmacy, attending the lyceum. There arrived his little girl with this message:

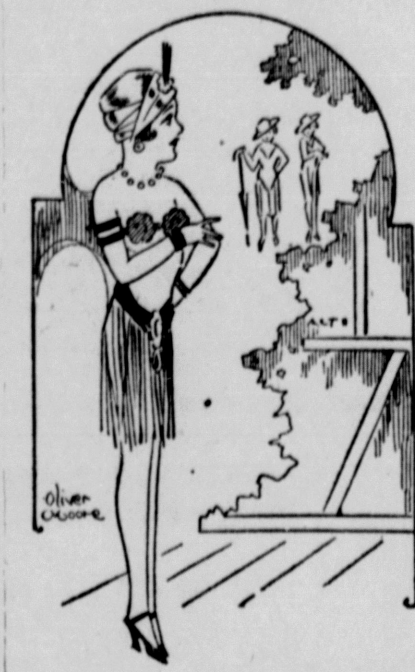

"Mother says for you to come home this minute."

"And what if I don't come home this minute?"

"She says she will come after you with a sash-weight."

He went.

Fred—She didn't have the face to tell you that?

Ned—If you mean that as a question, the answer is, she did; if you mean it as a statement of fact, I agree with you.

Last Call

"Clara," said he, "I can't answer that question, but I don't think I'll bother you much longer. One of the other three girls I'm proposing to shows signs of weakening."

Publicity

"Stryker, the politician, seems to have a lot of enemies."

"Yes, but he capitalizes on them."

"How's that?"

Printed Frock Is Liked by Milady

Popular in Large or Small Pattern, Bright or Subdued in Color.

The printed frock is the fashion of the hour. Small or large patterned, bright or subdued in color, with or without sleeves, in cotton or chiffon, they are in vogue for every hour of the day. Whatever one's preference in fabric or color one may choose from fashion's array at one's disposal and be smartly gowned—if one's costume is fashioned of print.

Interesting, indeed, is the wide divergence of patterns available in smart prints to suit both the conservative and extremist in tastes. Where formerly only floral decorations were considered good taste in printed fabrics, today cubists, impressionists and all the ultramodern in designs and colors have given of their art to make the most striking patterns and color effects for dressmaking uses.

The daytime printed frock follows the smart, simple sport mode in its lines and is fashioned of crepes, cottons and linen fabrics, while the afternoon and sleeveless dance frock developed of the most delicate printed chiffons is tiered, paneled and has unusual plait treatments to lend it variety. These soft frocks with flowing sleeves and long plaited panels or tiers worn with large picture hats are the favorite costumes for afternoon wear whether one has tea in town or at the garden party.

The printed chiffon ensemble cut on extremely simple lines, depending for its chic on the smartness of its material and novel plaiting arrangements, vies with the new sports cotton print ensemble. The latter are seen either entirely of the printed material or with the accompanying frock in a solid color.

The cubists' invasion in the field of fashion is depicted in a futuristic frock worn by Gertrude Olmsted, featured motion picture actress in "The Callahans and the Murphys." Against a background of beige the weirdest of designs in brown, tan and black are printed. Because of its bizarre material, the cut of the gown is simple. It has a round neckline, long sleeves trimmed with buttons, a girle of self-material at the natural waistline and a cascade down the front. A simple felt hat is worn with it.

Embroidery on Sleeves Fashionable This Year

In all the centuries, fashion has never gotten entirely away from embroidery and never will. It all depends, however, where embroidery is placed whether it is fashion or not. Just now it should bedeck sleeves. The latter are growing larger, gaining in circumference as the wrist is approached. Many of these, as well as the bishop type, are heavily crusted with embroidery. Bead trimmings are occasionally interspersed with the needlework.

Diagonal Treatment of Trimmings Is Feature

Flower for Printed Frock

If you are wondering whether to wear a flower with your printed dress—try a soft one of the color which you wish to accentuate in the print and you will find it produces exactly the right effect. Never choose, however, a boutonniere containing a variety of flowers of different colors.

"Walter."

That was the way they began. After a separation of four months Madge had written to Walter and told him that she would be glad to have him call that Saturday afternoon, and she had anticipated the little interview under the grape arbor beside her father's country house with a tenderness that somehow seemed to leave her, now that she actually saw the slender young man approach her with outstretched hands.

"I wanted to tell you, Walter—dear," she said permitting him to take her hands gently in his as they sat down together on the bench under the arbor, "that I've changed my mind entirely—about what a girl ought to do. I didn't let you know because I wanted to be sure; and I wanted to surprise you, I—"

"But Madge, dear," said the young man, "you were perhaps entirely right. I've been thinking things over myself. I realize that conditions are not what they were when our mothers were young. My cousin has been spending the summer with us—Martha Stone—I know you'd like her and I have told her all about you. She believes as you do—that in these days a girl has the right to choose—whether she wants to devote herself to domestic matters or follow some career that she's really better suited for."

Madge looked up amazed but the young man continued. "The fact is, Madge, dear, that Martha somehow put the matter so I understood it. Martha has wonderful ideas—I know you and she will be great friends. She herself says that if she ever marries she will continue her music teaching."

Madge just sat and looked at Walter and felt the gentle pressure of his hand on hers without a bit of the thrill that she had expected. Six months ago when they saw each other for the last time they had come to a serious disagreement. They were making plans for an autumn wedding, and Madge had declared that she never intended to do any sort of housework. She had got her appointment as a high school teacher and she liked the work. Walter had protested—Walter who was ordinarily quite mild of manner had actually become quite angry. The engagement had not been actually broken, but Madge had gone off to visit an aunt and they had arranged between themselves not even to write for six months. They would think matters over.

So Madge had gone to visit her aunt. Still wearing her engagement ring she had met a nephew of her aunt's husband—Tom Bradford—and before many weeks had passed she had told Tom of her anxieties.

"I don't blame your Walter in the least," Tom had said. "I'd never want to marry a girl who wouldn't take an interest in her own home. If a girl didn't care enough for me to be willing to do that I wouldn't think she cared enough for me to marry me."

After that Madge registered in a school of domestic science and before another week had passed she was deeply interested in dietetics, cooking, household administration and was taking a course in dressmaking besides.

And here she was—Madge with Walter—waiting to tell him her great surprise—and Walter was in no mood to listen to her.

"So you see we really have my cousin Martha to thank," Walter was saying. "She showed me how absurd it would be for you—when you might be earning several thousand dollars a year even to start with—to be wasting your time on housework. She even suggested taking apartments—then we would both be quite free and we could get meals out and not bother keeping any maid. Martha has wonderful ideas—you certainly must meet her. Now you must tell me what you wanted to tell me about," said Walter.

Madge had slipped the ring from her finger that she had worn faithfully for six months of her absence. "I've been thinking things over, Walter. I really do think a great deal of you. But I was thinking that perhaps after all we oughtn't to be married. We might not have disagreed the way we did unless we were a little unsuited—"

Walter released the hand he had been holding—very gently, without apparently any emotion. "Well, of course," he said, "it is better to find that out now than later. My cousin Martha has such good ideas about marriage. She says she thinks most of the divorces nowadays are due to the fact that people don't really—"

Walter went on but Madge did not hear him. She was thinking of Tom that evening she left her aunt's. He had held her hand in a close grasp for a minute, then raising it impulsively to his lips he had kissed it and let it drop.

"Of course I want you to marry Walter if he can make you happy," he said. "But he can't possibly love you more than I do."

"I think perhaps I could make Tom happier than I could you," Madge told Walter. "And, of course, there's your cousin Martha." He was wondering as he fingered the ring whether it would be too small for Martha.

On the Funny Side

GOOD OBSERVER

Hal has an original method of expressing himself, for a three-year-old, and in telling about a horse he said: "The horse had a long chin, with a mouth right on the end of his chin, and it was so long it came clear down in the grass."

When the robins appeared in his yard recently he said, "There are pigeons in our yard, mamma, with red 'tummies.'"

Orders

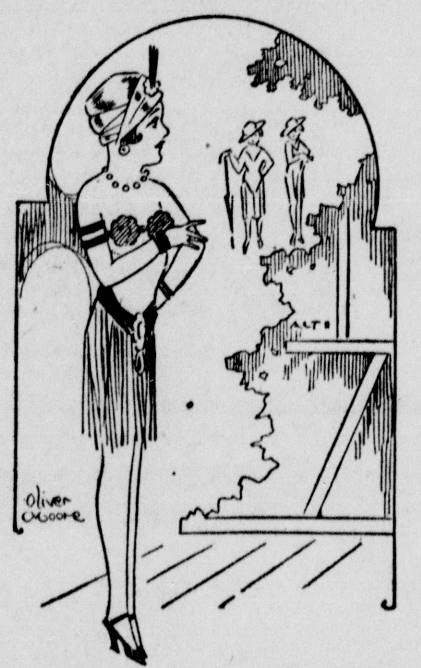

Mr. Wampus was sitting quietly in the pharmacy, attending the lyceum. There arrived his little girl with this message:

"Mother says for you to come home this minute."

"And what if I don't come home this minute?"

STRIPPED TO THE BONE

The Girl on the End—How funny that Claribel girl looks in her Nile costume.

The Next One—Funny is right. She's a regular comic strip.

Why Motorman Is Late

A motorman's never quite on time. As you no doubt will find, for he's always behind the car ahead and ahead of the car behind.

She Did and She Didn't

Ned—She insisted that her complexion is natural.

Fred—She didn't have the face to tell you that?

Ned—If you mean that as a question, the answer is, she did; if you mean it as a statement of fact, I agree with you.

Last Call

"Clara," said he, "I can't answer that question, but I don't think I'll bother you much longer. One of the other three girls I'm proposing to shows signs of weakening."

Publicity

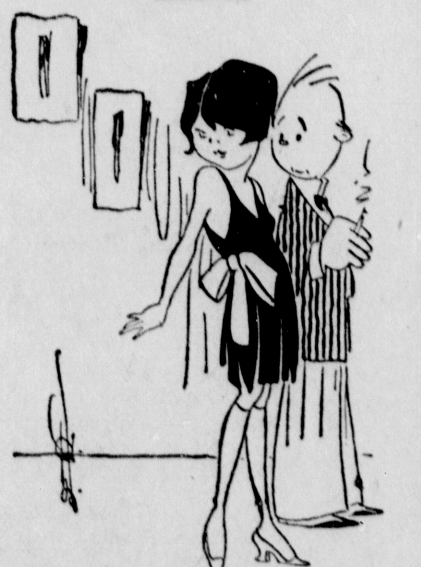

"Stryker, the politician, seems to have a lot of enemies."

"Yes, but he capitalizes on them."

"How's that?"

"Provokes 'em to write letters about him in the newspapers."

THEIR BUSINESS

She—Why are show-girls so called? He—Well—that's their business.

Animal Amenities

Asked the alligator of the crocodile, "Which one displays the latest style?" Said the crocodile to the alligator, "When it comes to style we're neither later."

Father Knew

Father (at 1 a. m.)—Is that young man asleep, Marie?

Daughter—Hush, father! He has just asked me to marry him and make him the happiest man in the world.

Father—Just as I thought. Wake him up.

The printed frock is the fashion of the hour. Small or large patterned, bright or subdued in color, with or without sleeves, in cotton or chiffon, they are in vogue for every hour of the day. Whatever one's preference in fabric or color one may choose from fashion's array at one's disposal and be smartly gowned—if one's costume is fashioned of print.

Interesting, indeed, is the wide divergence of patterns available in smart prints to suit both the conservative and extremist in tastes. Where formerly only floral decorations were considered good taste in printed fabrics, today cubists, impressionists and all the ultramodern in designs and colors have given of their art to make the most striking patterns and color effects for dressmaking uses.

The daytime printed frock follows the smart, simple sport mode in its lines and is fashioned of crepes, cottons and linen fabrics, while the afternoon and sleeveless dance frock developed of the most delicate printed chiffons is tiered, paneled and has unusual plait treatments to lend it variety. These soft frocks with flowing sleeves and long plaited panels or tiers worn with large picture hats are the favorite costumes for afternoon wear whether one has tea in town or at the garden party.

The printed chiffon ensemble cut on extremely simple lines, depending for its chic on the smartness of its material and novel plaiting arrangements, vies with the new sports cotton print ensemble. The latter are seen either entirely of the printed material or with the accompanying frock in a solid color.

The cubists' invasion in the field of fashion is depicted in a futuristic frock worn by Gertrude Olmsted, featured motion picture actress in "The Callahans and the Murphys." Against a background of beige the weirdst of designs in brown, tan and black are printed. Because of its bizarre material, the cut of the gown is simple. It has a round neckline, long sleeves trimmed with buttons, a girle of self-material at the natural waistline and a cascade down the front. A simple felt hat is worn with it.

In all the centuries, fashion has never gotten entirely away from embroidery and never will. It all depends, however, where embroidery is placed whether it is fashion or not. Just now it should bedeck sleeves. The latter are growing larger, gaining in circumference as the wrist is approached. Many of these, as well as the bishop type, are heavily encrusted with embroidery. Bead trimmings are occasionally interspersed with the needlework.

Diagonal Treatment of Trimmings Is Feature

If you are wondering whether to wear a flower with your printed dress—try a soft one of the color which you wish to accentuate in the print and you will find it produces exactly the right effect. Never choose, however, a boutonniere containing a variety of flowers of different colors.
